FIRE TOPPLES WALL

Three hundred persons were routed from their South Philadelphia homes Sunday when a seven-alarm fire in a warehouse demolished three adjacent houses and two garages. The houses were crushed when wall fell.

Nasser Admits Syria Setback

CAIRO (AP) — President Nasser said today the Syrian revolt "is a setback which must be the starting point for destroying reaction and treason throughout the Arab nations."

UN SEAT SOUGHT

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The new Syrian government took today what United Nations officials regarded as a first step toward application for membership in the UN. A UN spokesman said Premier Mamoun Kuzbari, head of the new Syrian regime, addressed a communication to Mongi Slim of Tunisia, president of the UN Assembly, saying his government intends to adhere to the principles of the UN charter.

BREAKS FAST

Tara Singh, 74-year-old Sikh leader Sunday took small quantities of food to break his avowed "fast unto death," when Indian leaders agreed to appoint a commission to inquire into discrimination against the Sikh community.

U.S. Rejects Red Plan For Interim UN Chief

'DEAD MAN' REVIVES BUT GRAVE NOT WASTED

CARACAS (Reuters) — When grave-diggers shovelled the first spadefuls of earth into a grave in the village cemetery at Pecaya, the "dead" man, Roberto Rodriguez, victim of a heart attack, burst open the lid of the coffin, scrambled out of the grave and ran home shouting and swearing. His mother-in-law, who was standing at the graveside, dropped dead from shock. She will be buried in the grave prepared for her son-in-law.

De Gaulle Plans Special Police

PARIS (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle announced tonight plans to organize immediately a police force for Algeria to supervise an eventual self-determination referendum.

DIVORCE LAWS WON'T CHANGE SAYS FULTON

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Justice Minister Fulton said today that Quebec and Newfoundland do not want divorce courts and the people of Canada do not seem to want broader grounds for divorce. "Public opinion is so divided on what should be done that until there is some crystallization of opinion, it would be unwise for the government to tamper with the existing situation."

HARVISON:

Laws Turned To Good Use By Criminals

MONTREAL (CP) — Legal safeguards designed to protect the individual's civil rights are being used by criminal organizations to escape prosecution, Commissioner C. W. Harvison of the RCMP said today. He told the International Association of Chief of Police that these "good and necessary safeguards" open wide gaps in the law for criminals "who are part of powerful, well-financed organizations that have at their beck and call legal advisers, fixers and corrupt officials."

DEAN CHANT

Inequality Of Children 'Raw Fact'

VANCOUVER (CP) — All children are not created equal and children must be made aware of "this raw fact of life," Dean S. N. F. Chant today told delegates to the 37th annual convention of the B.C. School Trustees' Association here. "Sentimentality tends to becloud issues and to blind one to the facts of life. One misconception that has stemmed from it is the belief that all children are equal."

"In fact it seems at times that educationists would even deceive the children into believing that they are equal."

SUICIDES

Body of David Beresford Pratt, above, wealthy English-born farmer who attempted to assassinate South African Premier Hendrik Verwoerd last year, was found hanged by a bedsheet in his cell in a mental clinic at Bloemfontein Sunday night.

Soviet Foregoes Demand for Veto

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States today rejected a Soviet proposal to name a stop-gap United Nations secretary-general.

It declared the plan would "seriously undermine the integrity of the UN secretariat." The Soviet Union disclosed Sunday night a proposal calling for a temporary head of the secretariat to act in close consultation with three deputies. The Russians explained it would not be bound by a veto.

STEVENSON SPEAKS

But U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, in a statement today, declared the Soviet proposal "is not a real compromise."

"It does not give the interim secretary-general a mandate to carry out the full functions of the office. This is imperative for the effective operation of the United Nations," said Stevenson.

"The UN should promptly designate an outstanding figure to carry on the functions of the secretary-general on an interim basis. Meeting this urgent need must not be obstructed or delayed by efforts to change the structure of the United Nations itself."

JUST ANOTHER TROIKA

In Washington, the U.S. state department said the plan was just another version of the troika, or three-man secretariat representing the Western, Communist and neutral blocs.

The proposal, previously reported by informed diplomats, was spelled out this way Sunday night in a statement from the Soviet delegation: "The General Assembly would choose a man to head the UN secretariat until April, 1963, but he would have to work in co-operation with three deputies. None would have a veto. The assembly would make its selection on the recommendation of the Security Council."

The Russians have a veto in the Security Council and could reject any candidate they disliked. The Russian statement said U.S. press reports had distorted the Soviet position by saying that it aimed "at using the veto in the everyday work of the guiding body of the secretariat."

SOUGHT TROIKA

April, 1963, would have marked the end of the second five-year term of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, who died in a plane crash Sept. 18 in Northern Rhodesia. For the last year the Soviet Union had sought to replace Hammarskjold with a troika—three men, Communist, Western and neutral, each holding a veto. His permanent replacement was sought.

UN May Meet League's Fate Boland Fears

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frederick H. Boland, former UN General Assembly president, warned Sunday the United Nations may be in for the same fate as the League of Nations.

Boland blamed both big and small powers for the deadlock at the United Nations. The Irish UN delegate, who also served with the League of Nations, appeared on a television interview.

"I think," Boland said, "there is the same tendency nowadays as there was then on the part of the major powers to take the view that the world organization should be subservient to their respective national interest. I think there may be also a tendency, which I hope will not materialize, on the part of the smaller members of the organization, to say rather than have serious great power differences: let us compromise."

RECORD HIT, LUCKY CATCH

Roger Maris and 19-year-old Sal Durante hold ball the New York Yankee slugger hit Sunday into the right-field stand at Yankee Stadium. It made Maris the first man to hit 61 home runs in season. Durante, a prospective bridegroom, gets $5,000 for returning the ball, an all-expense paid trip for two to the West Coast and two season tickets to Yankee Stadium for 1962. See story Page 10. ## Saanich Boy Admits Attempted Murder

Peter Tschirsch, a 15-year-old Saanich boy, pleaded guilty in B.C. Assize Court today to a charge of attempted non-capital murder and was remanded for sentence until Tuesday, Oct. 10 at 10 a.m. He pleaded guilty after the court decided he was fit to stand trial following a psychiatric report from Esquimalt. The boy was committed to Esquimalt by order of the attorney-general when he appeared in a juvenile court last April. Earlier, he was charged in Saanich police court with attempted murder in the stabbing of a 15-year-old girl on Jan. 12. The girl, Carolyn Yates, 15, of 5913 Old West Road, was taken to hospital with an abdominal stab wound and head injuries, from which she recovered.

RED CHINA PLEADS PEACE BUT CLAIMS U.S. HOSTILE

PEKING (Reuters) — Communist China celebrated its 12th anniversary with a gigantic parade Sunday and a declaration by Premier Chou En-lai that it wants to live in peace with all nations, including the United States. But Chou, speaking at a separate banquet Saturday night, added: "The U.S. government, however, has up to now refused to give up its policy of hostility to China."

Chou told the 3,000 guests that the U.S. is "again engineering plots" to keep Communist China out of the United Nations.

"The legitimate rights of the people's republic of China must be restored to it," Chou said, and the Nationalist Chinese "must be driven out of the United Nations."

Chou backed Cuba's "just struggle against U.S. imperialism" and said Communist China would stand "unshakably" by Asian and Latin American countries in their fight against "old and new" colonialism.

RAF Bombing of Berlin 'Costly Failure'

LONDON (CP) — Britons were reflecting today on official judgments that while the RAF won the Battle of Britain in the Second World War, it lost the Battle of Berlin.

Publication of the official history of Bomber Command's night attacks on Germany during 1943-44 implies that never before did so many do so much to achieve so little.

The historians, Sir Charles Webster and Noble Frankland, conclude that the indiscriminate area bombing of German cities, costing more than 55,000 lives in aircrew, was a costly failure.

They said the attacks failed in their two main objectives: They failed to break the will of the German people and the effect on the enemy's war production was remarkably small.

In part the history is an indictment of Bomber Command's chief, Sir Arthur (Bomber) Harris, who despite strong advice that the bombers could be used more effectively against strategic targets such as oil, held firm to his conviction that mass bombing would destroy Germany's home front.

The picture the historians paint of Harris is of a man who commanded the awe, affection and absolute loyalty of his men but who, like Field Marshal Earl Haig in the First World War, was always wrong strategically and always prevailed.

The history brings out the astonishing fact that three of the war's leading powers, Britain, Germany and Japan, were virtually without oil.

From the earliest days of the war, Britain's economic advisers insisted that bombing power should be used with absolute priority against German oil refineries and stock piles. German wartime leaders later confirmed that a sustained attack on oil installations was what they most feared.

Daylight precision bombing by the United States Air Force seriously crippled Nazi war production. But Harris, say the historians, remained convinced that his 1,000-strong force of four-engine Lancasters was an imprecise instrument that could be used only at night against large targets.

SOME BIG SUCCESSES
Spectacular results were sometimes achieved. A week-long incendiary attack on Hamburg resulted in a fire storm that killed 50,000 civilians. A similar attack on Dresden a year later produced moral shocks among Britain's leaders, including Prime Minister Churchill.

The book makes clear that Britain was not following a policy of destruction for its own sake. Harris and his top men genuinely believed that the best way to destroy the German war machine was to drive the workers from their homes.

The historians in no way declaim the over-all achievements of the RAF during the war. They restrict themselves to the air offensive against Germany.

A particular success achieved was the development of the Pathfinder force which proved that Bomber Command could be used effectively and accurately against small targets such as the Moehne and Eder dams.

The book concludes that these tactics employed earlier could have done much more to destroy Germany's ability to fight.

HARRIS DEFENDED

Many quarters are sure to disagree with the official judgment and one criticism of the history has already appeared in print.

Air Vice-Marshal Donald Bennett, former commander of the Pathfinder force, defends Harris as the most successful British commander-in-chief of the war.

"This cold, critical and inaccurate history is, to say the least, an astonishing act of ingratitude," Bennett says.

ENGINE ROOM BLAST SINKS U.S. TANKER

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—An oil tanker with its hull ripped by an explosion sank today 100 miles off Jacksonville. The Hess Mariner's crew of 37 had abandoned the $1,000,000 craft Sunday night.

Last crew members to leave were four men who stayed on the wreck six hours in an effort to halt the rush of water through a hole punched in the vessel's bottom by an engine-room explosion.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

(Times News Services)

HARTLEY WITNEY — Trash was at the core of an Anglo-American dust-up in the lovely Hampshire countryside Sunday.

English housewives living in the district are being given special favors in the matter of emptying their trash cans.

The rash of trash complaints erupted in the village of Yateley, near a U.S. Air Force base.

About 40 American wives keep house in the village, and the local ladies are angry because the council sends workmen twice a week to empty American trash cans. Everyone else has only one collection a week.

Dr. D. J. Davies, the council's public health officer, explained: "An Anglo-American agreement about bases in this country says that American homes must have two trash collections a week."

"This service is not yet available for all villagers because of the present economic situation."

What particularly irked local housewives was a statement by a council official who wisely declined to identify himself.

"American women," the official said, "are used to higher standards of cleanliness."

When the dust settled reporters asked a Yateley housewife, Mrs. Ethel Wright, what she thought of this statement.

"Rubbish," cried Mrs. Wright.

ALAMEDA, Calif.—Darrell Kaufman of nearby Oakland demonstrated Saturday that the simplest way to get rid of a man-eating shark is to grab it by the tail and drag it ashore.

The seven-foot, ten-inch shark was spotted by Marie Luthold, 15, of Fremont, as she waded in the shallow surf of San Francisco Bay. She ran out of the water, shouting, "Kaufman, a friend, Ed Banford, waded out to the shark, thrashing in water only two feet deep. Some 50 spectators cheered as Kaufman grabbed its tail and started tugging it ashore.

It was identified as a white-tipped, man-eating variety.

TORONTO—Charles McAleer, 21, won an argument—and has the scars to prove it.

McAleer, Kenneth Griffins, 41, and Norman Higgins, 42, were in Higgins' basement Sunday when Higgins argued ammunition could not be set off without a gun.

McAleer said it could. To settle the dispute a 20-metre anti-tank shell was clamped in a vise and struck with a hammer. The shell exploded.

McAleer suffered a deep gash to his right arm, the others minor cuts from flying bits of vise.

PARIS—Police Saturday investigated a cult called the Knights of the Cosmos, whose members were alleged to have worshipped in the nude and starved themselves because they thought the world was coming to an end.

Among members being questioned were an emaciated man describing himself as a reincarnation of Christ, and a girl with matted hair who claimed to police she was "Gen. de Gaulle's daughter and mascot."

Unemployment Here 'As Usual'—Dief

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today that while Canada, as usual, will face another unemployment problem this winter, the country's employment record is encouraging and significant in comparison with that of the United States.

He said that while U.S. unemployment figures have been going up—Canada's have been going down. In August this year, the unemployed in Canada represented 4.8 per cent of the labor force and in the U.S. it was 6.2 per cent.

"Of course, we will have a winter unemployment problem, as we always have," he told reporters after a cabinet meeting. "But certainly our figures are very encouraging and I think significant in comparison with U.S. figures."

INTERIM UN CHIEF

ment under the UN charter would require action first by the council and then by the assembly.

To avoid an immediate showdown over the troika, Ireland, Norway and others have been promoting a plan to have the assembly alone name one man on a temporary basis.

The Soviet delegation said it would reject "any attempts to impose upon the General Assembly a one-sided solution in circumvention of the Security Council."

But it said that in the last few days it had given U.S. and other delegates "a conciliatory proposal on the temporary administration of the secretariat."

This, it said, is that the assembly of recommendation of the Security Council "will invite a man who is well known in United Nations circles to serve as chief" of the secretariat until April 1963.

That description would apply to any of the three men most often mentioned for the top spot in connection with the Irish-Norwegian plan.

They are the assembly president, Mongi Slim of Tunisia; his predecessor, Frederick H. Boland of Ireland; and Burma's chief delegate, U. Thant.

Arson Suspected In School Blaze

(Compiled From CP)

PRINCE GEORGE — An official of the British Columbia fire marshal's department today began investigating a blaze which destroyed Connaught Junior High School.

The official flew to Prince George Sunday after request from the RCMP, who said they suspect arson.

The building four years ago cost over $600,000.

Remains of the 26-room wood-frame building were still smoldering Sunday night. The fire started shortly after 2 a.m. Sunday. The building was destroyed less than an hour and a half later.

Police said they discovered a door had been smashed open and a ladder placed inside the doorway.

700-FOOT PLUNGE

REALORNE — A man was killed in a 700-foot plunge down a cliff after his car shot off the Bridge River Highway three miles east of here.

The body of Harold Bjarnson, 27, an employee at B.C. Electric's Gold Bridge power station, was found by RCMP about 350 feet from the twisted wreckage of his car.

MONTY VISITS

VANCOUVER — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery said Sunday he feels there is every chance for continued peace in the world if world leaders will show sense and move carefully.

The field marshal arrived aboard a CPA airliner from Hong Kong en route home from a private fact-finding mission in Red China. He will rest here for four days.

He said in an airport interview China "is on the move" and that the energy of the people was the most striking fact he had encountered. The nations of the West "would do well to make friends with China."

Dr. N. A. M. Mackenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, will be the field marshal's host during his visit here.

ARMS PROTEST

VANCOUVER — An orderly group of about 200 persons, protesting what it termed militaristic thinking and calling for an end to nuclear arms, arrived here Sunday after an overnight, 25-mile hike from White Rock, south of here.

The group, claiming no political affiliation, carried placards, two of which read "Peace, the only shelter," and "Let's live a little."

Starting Saturday as a band of about 30, the marchers picked up in number as they approached the city.

Red Union Expelled By Labor

BLACKPOOL, England (CP) — Britain's Labor party today overwhelmingly approved the expulsion of the 140,000-member Electrical Trades Union on the grounds it is manipulated by Communists.

The action came at a stormy opening session of the party's annual conference. It was the first time any union has been disaffiliated from the Labor party.

The party's executive committee Friday kicked out the union and drafted a resolution explaining the reasons for its action.

The committee's decision was subject to ratification by the entire conference. It received that approval by a vote of 5,337,000 to 642,000. The 1,226 delegates at the conference cast votes for the entire membership of the organization they represent.

Earlier, a high court had found the Communists guilty of ballot-rigging in an Electrical Union election. Subsequently the Trades Union Congress—the central body of British organized labor—expelled the union.

NOT SEATED

The delegation which the union sent to the Labor party conference was not seated. However, one representative, Sam Goldberg, was invited from the gallery to address the delegates.

He described the expulsion of his union from the party as "an unprecedented and dangerous step." He also denied that Communists dictated union policy.

The Labor party later this week turns to international affairs, and is expected to propose a measure of Western recognition of Communist East Germany.

This would be part of a plan to ease the Berlin crisis. Other proposals would include firm Soviet guarantees for the freedom of West Berlin and Western access rights to the city.

A Labor source described this approach "as a recognition of existing realities." The proposals are included in a special resolution prepared by the party's executive committee.

Informants predict that the resolution will receive widespread support from the delegates when it is brought before the conference, probably Wednesday.

Famed U.K. Sculptor, Memorial-Maker Dead

LONDON (AP) — Sir William Reid Dick, reputed to have created more of Britain's forest of memorial statues than any other man, died Sunday. He was 82. One of his greatest works was the statue of the late president Franklin D. Roosevelt in Grosvenor Square.

Ont. Minister Dead

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario Mines Minister James A. Maloney, 56, who entered hospital here Friday for a check-up, died Sunday night of coronary thrombosis. His brother, Arthur, is the Conservative member of the Commons for Toronto Parkdale.

GEORGE MEANY
Hoffa clash soon?

Labor Giants Seem Heading For Showdown

WASHINGTON (CP) — A battle between AFL-CIO chief George Meany and Teamsters boss James Hoffa may be in the making.

The 67-year-old Meany, up for re-election at the AFL-CIO convention in December, has called an executive council meeting in New York Oct. 10 to discuss the Hoffa issue.

Any action the 12,000,000-member labor body takes to reduce Hoffa's power may have some impact on the Teamsters' organization drive in Canada.

Ever since Hoffa and the 1,500,000-member Teamsters were booted out of the AFL-CIO four years ago on corruption charges, Meany has kept his hands off the Teamsters, maintaining that if he attempted to set up rival unions and crack Hoffa's leadership, truck drivers might suffer through Hoffa retaliation.

THREATENS FIGHT

The pint-sized Hoffa has warned he would fight any attempt to invade his membership. But despite the fear of Hoffa's power that pervades the Teamsters rank-and-file, a group of locals in Cincinnati rebelled.

The pattern of the Cincinnati rebellion is suggested by informants as the kind Meany would like to see expanded. Meany has long maintained that truck drivers who make pickups and deliveries only in their own communities may be able to rebel, but that "over-the-road" drivers who haul goods long distances from their hometowns would be subjected to threats and injuries from Hoffa hoodlums.

SUGGESTS SPLIT

Meany's associates suggest local drivers in other Teamsters locals be weaned away and encouraged to remain independent or to join a rival union which may eventually be set up by the AFL-CIO headquarters.

If this kind of split is successful, Hoffa might be left with only 500,000 members out of his present 1,500,000. But it isn't likely Hoffa would allow that to happen without a scrap. This could bring on one of the biggest labor wars in American history. Congress has accused Hoffa of having underworld associates to back up personal power.

NATO Arms Boost Succeeds in Part

PARIS (AP) — The response of European members of NATO to the U.S. effort to increase the military capability of the Western defence system by 20 per cent appears to be spotty.

Most of the 14 military members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are meeting the request for more firepower on the defence lines. But some countries, less than half a dozen, are confronted by financial difficulties or internal political situations which make any additional buildup now difficult or impossible.

The goal for attaining the 20-per-cent increase is set for 1962 or 1963. As it now stands, the United States would absorb up to about eight per cent of the over-all expansion.

AIMS AT READINESS

The aim in the immediate future is to make the 21 NATO-committed divisions actually battle-ready, by building up to full strength and providing the necessary equipment. This is aside from the longer range goal of a total of about 30 divisions.

The United States is making a supreme effort to encourage the other NATO members to help with the expansion program. A series of high level meetings among U.S. officials here has just concluded.

U.S. Ambassador James Gavin, NATO Ambassador Thomas Finletter and Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, met with Vice-President Lyndon Johnson. The vice-president was sent to Paris by President Kennedy to make a survey of the situation.

For some countries, the summoning of more men to military service means that manpower for the civilian economy is reduced, that more material must go into military supply.

Drive for 'Retarded'

VANCOUVER (CP) — R. F. Shaw of Toronto, newly-elected president of the Canadian Association for Retarded Children, said Friday a $1,000,000 national campaign will be launched soon to provide national research and maintenance of work on the problems of mental retardation.

U.S. MILITARY HARMONY INCREASING

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military chiefs are reaching fewer split decisions on major matters than in the past, it was reported today.

Sources familiar with what goes on in the deliberations of the joint chiefs of staff said there has been a marked increase in harmony during the last seven months.

They attributed this in part to the gravity of the Berlin situation.

But another factor, informants said, is a desire among the uniformed chiefs of the army, navy and air force to work out their own differences and not leave the job of resolving them to the civilian leaders of the defence department.

COALITION to form new government of West Germany was the subject of talks today between Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Erich Mende (above), leader of the Free Democratic party which holds balance of power in the Bundestag (lower house) after elections of Sunday, Sept. 17.

Quebec Mourns for Gagnon

QUEBEC (CP) — A 15-day mourning period was proclaimed Sunday by the provincial government in honor of Lieutenant-Governor Onesime Gagnon of Quebec, who died Saturday shortly after his third heart attack since May.

The wife, three sons and four daughters of the 72-year-old veteran of federal and Quebec politics were with Mr. Gagnon when he died at Bois de Coulouges, his official residence.

Rene Hamel, acting premier in the absence of Premier Jean Lesage and Attorney-General

Georges Lapalme, said all government offices will be closed Wednesday morning for the state funeral.

Mr. Gagnon, long-time associate of the late premier Maurice Duplessis, had been in politics 28 years when appointed lieutenant-governor in 1958.

Education—Low Priority

THE LATEST ISSUE OF THE U.B.C. Alumni Chronicle reprints a press series by reporter Arnie Myers dealing with operations of the university. Some of the figures are particularly interesting in view of Victorians' generous support to both the U.B.C. building fund drive and the more recent campaign for Victoria College.

Like Victoria College, the Point Grey institution is in the midst of ballooning growth: five years ago there were 7,000 students at U.B.C. this year there will be close to 13,000—an increase of some 1,300 since last term.

The result is that space is at a premium, there are barely enough faculty members to handle the classes, and not one of the "temporary" wooden army huts taken over by the university in the post-war growth emergency of 1946 can be retired from service.

Operating costs of the institution have doubled within the last four years. Many students are finding it difficult, if not impossible, to get together enough money during the summer to finance a term of study.

Money for the university comes from students' fees (increased by $100 last year), from private and corporation donations, and from government grants.

Federal government grants now amount to $1.50 per head of population in the various provinces. This has resulted in a slowly rising percentage of the U.B.C. budget being supported by Ottawa. But the help from the provincial government—the proper authority to finance higher education—has been proportionately shrinking.

As the Chronicle article puts it: "In 1954-55 the provincial government paid 44.5 per cent of U.B.C.'s operating costs, and the federal government less than 10 per cent. In 1959-60, Victoria's share had declined to 34.3 per cent and Ottawa's had risen to 25."

The Record Does Not Help

IT WILL HAVE BEEN NO SURPRISE to the country to learn that the new session of Parliament expected to open early in December rules out the possibility of an election this year.

The present Government may legally hold office until April, 1963, although it is customary to go to the people in the fourth year of office. Within limits, therefore, Mr. Diefenbaker may choose his own date and his own national issue.

So far he has no issue with which he could sway the country. His record in office has been mediocre and in some respects a failure.

Internationally, Canada has sunk to a scarcely listened-to voice—a sad decline from the esteem in which Ottawa spokesmen were held in Mr. Pearson's time. Our relations with Britain have deteriorated painfully, and the rest of the Commonwealth finds no leadership in Ottawa. Our economic policies are at odds not only with Britain but with the free-trade world trend displayed in the European Common Market which the United States encourages and which Britain may shortly join. Major customers such as Japan are ranking under our im-

It has been during this same period that British Columbia's provincial revenues have risen from $186 millions to $300 millions. This province, one of the richest in Canada, today stands fifth—far behind Alberta, Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan—in the support given to universities and colleges.

In capital building assistance the record is little better. Through "matching grants" the university has been helped in adding badly-needed buildings—but in how many countries of the world do they have to pass the hat around among the citizens in order to get money to build classrooms for higher education?

The dollar-for-dollar building grants promised by the provincial government will be forthcoming eventually. The government has committed itself to supply $10 millions in outright grants; plus another $10 millions to match the same amount raised by the public campaign. But to date the university has received only $5 millions of the outright grants and $1,250,000 of the matching grants—a mere trickle towards the $35-million building program.

This is foot-dragging of the most obvious nature. Why is higher education so unpopular with the provincial government? Why hasn't this province—so forward in some social amenities—made equal progress in providing higher education for its rapidly growing population—not only classrooms and libraries but the wherewithal to assist deserving students?

The current government program to help top students by paying half their fees, and a certain number of second-class students by paying one-third of their fees, is welcome, but little more than a gesture offsetting for a few the increased charges recently forced on students.

Higher education, by all the evidence, is a low-priority objective in this province. We're penny wise and pound foolish.

port restrictions and our whole trade policy invites retaliations from many quarters.

Domestically, our national productivity is lagging in comparison with that of other countries, our unemployment is still far higher than that of comparable economies, our national budget is headed for an even greater deficit, the country is still worried about the Bank of Canada controversy, and the great "Vision" of burgeoning prosperity with which Mr. Diefenbaker won election in 1958 remains only that.

This is no kind of a background against which to launch a general election campaign. The brief flare-up of governmental anger against the Senate has flickered out. Mr. Diefenbaker thought better of his threat to make the Senate's restriction amendment of his no-appeal tariff bill an election issue.

It is obvious, then, that Mr. Diefenbaker must wait until next year, when a suitable issue may present itself, or he will have had time to create one. But he has a lot of problems to solve before he can ask the country to vote him back into office. The Vision seems to have even less of a future than it has of a past.

Take Cash, Let Credit Go

MR. CONNIE B. GAY OF Washington has apparently listened to Mr. Micawber and projected the Micawber theorem a step further.

He proposes that American society replace the "credit card" with a "cash card."

Mr. Gay has conducted research which convinces him that the average family in his own locality spends about $132.40 a year on interest and bookkeeping charges for credit transactions.

He suggests that people buy "cash cards" and through them receive a discount from merchants equivalent to what merchants would save by avoiding carrying charges on credit accounts.

The idea seems to make sense in one respect. But Mr. Gay faces a considerable task in shifting purchasing habits. In the United States consumer credit runs to about $54,000,000,000, which roughly represents the buy-now-pay-later psychology accepted on this continent.

Still, the Washington man deserves credit for thinking up a novel idea—using money to purchase things.

More Pay, Better Play

ECONOMISTS POINT OUT that wage increases are justified when the wage-earner increases his production. How, though, does this work when the product is intangible?

Very well, it appears from a report on British soccer.

Under the old wage rule applied to professional soccer players in England, no player received more than £20 a week from his club legally. A new rule takes the ceiling off the soccer pay packet. The other day Manchester United's first team players collected about £100 per man for a week during which they beat the champion Tottenham Hotspurs.

Playing standards, say the critics, are rising in all four divisions of the English league because of the keener interest footballers are showing in their profession; and spectators, happier that they are getting better value for their money, have stopped the slide in their support.

Production is up in British soccer, it seems, although you can't wrap up the product and sell it over the counter.

"The Canadian people, when the opportunity comes, will not listen to the whiners and the wailers."—Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Sept. 27, 1961.

IT COULD HAPPEN MAYBE

What They Don't Know Won't Hurt You

THE scene is the United Nations headquarters on an afternoon in 1955, and the membership of the world organization has grown to 125. Mr. P. Z. Schunk, one of the 125 Secretaries-General—the minimum number under which it has been found possible to make the Secretariat work—is speaking.

"And so, gentlemen, as you see, it has been possible to keep peace in the world for the past thirty years only because the major powers of the globe have maintained equal nuclear power. With hundreds of nuclear warhead missiles aimed perpetually at each other's cities, neither side has found it expedient to take the risk of attacking the other. A slight slackening of alertness on the part of either, a momentary advantage by one side over the other, a sudden knowledge that the nuclear power of the opposing country was temporarily out of order, would have resulted in who knows what catastrophe."

"So it has been to the advantage of all the nations of the world to keep both sides exactly equal in armed strength, and this has been successfully achieved. I need not remind you of the great boon this has been to the world during the past thirty years. For even despite the enormous cost of armaments to the major powers, the world has flourished with prosperity ever since the danger of imminent war was lifted."

"A permanent condition of peace has, in fact, become our way of life, and it is difficult to imagine, at this date, a world in which this security did not obtain. The major nations, of course, would be the first to agree with me on these facts, and because of this we all may look forward to many generations—if not centuries—of nicely balanced, permanently maintained, peace."

The delegates of the 125 member states applauded vigorously. Although the situation was well known to them, they were happy to hear it detailed each year at the opening of the Assembly.

"Yes, yes, yes, General. All this is commonplace. Now what..."

"Mr. President... Heaven help me... I have just found out beyond any possible doubt that for at least twenty years every one of our rockets has been out of commission. The nuclear charges with which they are perpetually loaded have deteriorated, although this was known to be impossible. Mr. President, for twenty years we have stood entirely unarmed, open to any nuclear attack without a single rocket in retaliation. And we so stand at this moment. No soul knows this but you and I."

The President paled. He slumped in his chair, then quickly reached in a drawer for two small white tablets. "General," he gasped, downing them, "you must swear never to reveal this on pain of death. We cannot replace the faulty charges—that would let the world know what has happened, and what could happen again. The world order would be ruined. We must sit it out—a tremendous, permanent bluff on which the life of the whole nation is at stake..."

Scene: the Kremlin. The Chairman of the Soviets is seated at his desk. It is the afternoon of the first meeting of the United Nations Assembly, 1955. A bemuddled general enters.

"Comrade Chairman, I beg you—in the name of Heaven—er, of Red Square—give me a drop of that vodka. I cannot go on..."

"What is this, Comrade General? Most unseemly conduct. Explain yourself."

"Comrade Secretary, I have exclusive knowledge... I know for a fact—and I am the only one—I have just discovered that our automatic nuclear missile batteries—every one of them throughout the entire Soviet—er, dead... inactive... a dud. Apparently the missile charges have been that way for the past twenty years, ever since we installed those super-super warheads. We've been living in a fool's Paradise—er, Red Square—all this time. Not a bomb would have exploded in retaliation for a nuclear attack on us. Oh, if the other side could ever know..."

"Breathe no word of this," the Chairman snapped. "Your life depends on your silence—the life of the whole Soviet. We must bluff it out. As long as they THINK we have missiles to retaliate with, we're safe."

The general staggered out. "Yes," smiled the Secretary, pouring himself a tumbler of vodka. "As long as they THINK we have missiles. A fixed belief is a strong defence... and oh, so much cheaper."

As Our Readers See It

The $1,000 Challenge

May I address this letter to all well-to-do people in behalf of the current United Appeal?

An extremely generous citizen, who prefers to remain anonymous, with many calls on both his time and money, has pledged $1,000 to the current drive, if I can persuade 10 or 15 others to do the same.

There are unfortunately too few hours left to enable me to call on you personally to present this suggestion, so that I am hoping there will be a generous response to this open letter.

An affirmative answer to this challenge by 15 public-spirited citizens will give a tremendous shot in the arm to this year's appeal for $320,000.

It would be appreciated if you would mail your cheques to me, made out in favor of the United Appeal. Unless at least 10 are received we have undertaken to return all cheques, unless otherwise directed.

JUSTIN HARBORD,
Chairman, United Appeal,

Deteriorating?

That question "Is England deteriorating?" in your "Here and There" column reminds me of the young bride who asked "Do you love me as much now as you did a month ago?" Both questions are obviously designed to bring fervent reassurances.

However, I am not going to fall into this trap by saying "of course England isn't deteriorating."

Frankly, I believe all countries have deteriorated in manners, morals and standards of conduct, both national and international. And I blame this on the gradual decline in religious faith and the failure of parents to bring up their children according to sound Christian principles.

This is particularly true of the United States of America and Canada, and I don't think England is any better. I do feel however that the Scandinavian countries have preserved a sounder and more ethical way of life.

OBSERVER.

Constitution Amendment

Canadians will be best advised to speak now against the constitution amendment formula or forever hold their peace.

For the mere purpose of slogans like "Our constitution is now repatriated" or "Last vestiges of colonialism gone," M. Paul Gerin-Lajoie of Quebec has somehow induced Mr. Diefenbaker's government and representatives from the rest of the provinces to allow only with unanimity any adjustments of federal-provincial powers, and what is perhaps less dangerous but more insulting to the competence of the federal Parliament; to take away its powers to amend its own internal constitution, powers possessed by all provinces themselves, and secured to Parliament under a prime minister who was himself a Liberal and a French Canadian like Mr. Gerin-Lajoie.

In return we are to get a so-called "flexible system of delegation," which in Australia was entirely useless (section 51 (xxvii) of the Australian constitution). This is, of course, to mean that legislation passed under such delegated powers is to be at the whim of any one of 10 provincial premiers at any time.

The powers of Parliament to regulate itself internally must be preserved intact; and ironclad unanimous guarantees of French language and culture can be provided; but majority consent of provinces is surely sufficient to protect provincial rights, unless it is proposed to direct Canadian federalism down the paths of fragmentation, where legislative necessities for a growing economy can be met only in the provincial sphere, where one economic unit will become 10 loosely federated and unstable enough to be absorbed in 50 years' time into the United States.

Consent of three-fourths of the American states, or of the majority of Australian states, has sufficed to prevent most changes; are we to saddle ourselves forever with a virtually unchangeable constitution? Or are we to deny to Parliament what is allowed to every provincial legislature—the right to control its internal constitution?

The new formula is a standing invitation to constitutional crisis, and if Canadians are so unwise to take it because of its bright package, or so lazy as not to speak up against taking it in haste now, we shall surely repent at leisure later. This is the history of excessive constitutional rigidity. A Canadian who fails to act now will have no other opportunity during his lifetime. Speak up!

CHECK POINTS

The Russians Must Stay

By NOEL WRIGHT

Officer with the British Occupation Authority in West Germany from 1947 to 1955.

ONE of the biggest ironies in the whole Berlin crisis is symbolized by a handful of East German frontier police whose existence has been studiously ignored for years by official Allied personnel using the border crossings which they man.

These particular East German police are the outward and visible reminder of a paradox which, in less terrifying circumstances, would verge on the comical.

The paradox lies in the fact that, so far from wanting the Russians to pull out of Berlin, the Allies' most urgent interest for the moment is to keep the Russians there.

As long as the Russians remain formally responsible for their own occupation zone, avenues of negotiation on Allied rights in West Berlin at least continue to exist. But once the Kremlin signs a separate peace treaty with its East German satellite, we shall no longer have anyone left to talk to. This is the immediate Allied nightmare—because it is precisely from that point onward that we are likely to have an awful lot to talk about.

Official contact between the Allies and the East German authorities has always been painstakingly avoided. Detachments of the East German "People's Police" have been stationed since the early fifties at the inter-zonal checkpoints marking the beginning and the end of the 110-mile autobahn linking Berlin with the free world.

But, in theory at any rate, the only words ever addressed to them by an official representative of America, Britain or France are: "I wish to speak to a Russian officer!"

Routine Duties

The East German frontiersmen carry out their routine frontier control duties in respect of all ordinary travellers, German or otherwise. Watching over them like benevolent Big Brothers, however, at the Marienborn and West Berlin checkpoints are small details of Red Army personnel. It is with these latter alone that official Allied travellers—including the 1,500-strong U.S. Army task force recently dispatched to reinforce the Berlin garrison—are authorized to conduct necessary transit formalities.

American, British and French troops, diplomats and other accredited personnel have strict instructions on how to deal with any East German functionaries they may encounter during their two-and-a-half hour drive to West Berlin. They must refuse to discuss anything with them. They must merely demand to be put into touch with the Soviet authorities as quickly as possible.

Any other course of action might imply Allied recognition of the East German Republic. Such de-facto recognition of their most promising satellite is, of course, the chief aim of Soviet strategy in the present cold war battle of wills.

Difficult Challenge

In practice, it will be a difficult challenge to meet. If Russian NCO's are withdrawn from the Marienborn and West Berlin checkpoints, there are only two ways in which the Allies can continue to withhold de facto recognition of the East German state. One way is to cease using the inter-zonal autobahn altogether. The other is to refuse to show their passes and shoot their way through, if opposed.

Even if a face-saving formula could be found for escaping this immediate dilemma, there are many other ways in which the East Germans could exercise a growing squeeze on our communications with West Berlin.

In the years following the 1948-49 Berlin blockade the Russians regularly used the excuse of protracted "repairs" to the vital autobahn bridge over the River Elbe at Magdeburg to slow down inter-zonal traffic. Similar "repairs" can suddenly and mysteriously become necessary in the case of inter-zonal railroads, bridges, tracks and signalling systems. Air traffic control systems guiding planes in the three Allied air corridors to West Berlin could be jammed.

None of these developments in themselves could justify the immediate use of armed force on the part of the Allies. Our whole concept of international law and order would demand, as a first step, diplomatic protests and an attempt at negotiation. But, with the East Germans as the sole authority in such matters, to whom would we protest? With whom could we negotiate?

Accomplished Fact

Khrushchev desperately needs international recognition for his East German puppet. Many objective observers, even in the Allied camp itself, recognize that the division of Germany into two halves has to be accepted for an indefinite period as an accomplished fact. The crux of the Allies' immediate problem is how to live with this fact without suffering a disastrous loss of prestige—and thereby keep open every peaceful avenue for insisting on our own rights in West Berlin.

This is the great merit of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's call for the UN to move into Berlin and guarantee freedom of movement along the autobahn. The UN represents our best chance of continuing to ignore those East German frontier guards altogether.

Meanwhile, it's vital that Big Brother Ivan should stay put as long as possible in his hut at the Marienborn checkpoint!

Emphysema

I was just reading the report of a study by Dr. Douglas Carroll of 26 cases of severe emphysema in patients seen in a big city hospital. Ten of them had had repeated spells of asthma or chronic bronchitis, or both of these troubles, for from six to 46 years before they got into serious trouble. In spells they would get short of breath; they would cough, and they might have some fever. Six of the patients had bronchiectasis (dilated air tubes). In the end, the increasing shortness of breath tended to make these patients stop work.

Four of them were helped when cortisone-like drugs were given. Some men, whose hearts were working poorly, were given digitalis, low salt diets, and medicine designed to get water out of their systems. Several had to be given drugs to dilate their air tubes, and thus stop a spell of asthma. Some of the men who had bronchiectasis needed penicillin or some other antibiotic.

Sometimes in a spell of asthma the giving of oxygen helped. Interestingly, many of these persons had remained in good health until they were about 49. Then came chronic bronchitis and asthma, and cough with more and more frequent attacks. Eventually, around the age of 60 there came failure of the right half of the heart and such difficulty in breathing that the man had to sit up much of the night.

A rare disease runs through certain families, in which some members, especially when they sit down to rest after exercising, or when they are cold or hungry, can become temporarily paralyzed. Examination shows that there is too much potassium in their blood. As one would expect from this, one can throw a victim of this disease into an attack by giving him a salt of potassium. One can keep him from getting spells by giving each day some dextro-amphetamine.

For several years now, experts on mental retardation have become ever more interested in a form of mental retardation in which the infant is apparently born normal, but soon begins to lose intelligence because his little brain is more and more poisoned by a chemical called a phenylketone, which is formed in the body because of the child's failure to have inherited a ferment which, in all normal persons, splits a substance in the food called phenylalanine.

If something isn't done to cut down on the amount of phenylalanine in the diet, by the time the child is two or three years old he is likely to be pretty much of an idiot, overly active, restless, irritable and destructive. He may have some convulsions.

The disease runs through families, and hence in such families every child born should be tested. The defect now can be recognized in a minute by dropping on the child's diaper a drop of a 10 per cent solution of ferric chloride. If the child has the trouble, there appears a blue-green or gray-green color which soon fades. There is another test that can be made with the urine for phenylpyruvic acid. If negative, the test should be repeated a few times, because in from five to 10 per cent of cases it does not work well.

If a good children's specialist (pediatrician) is in charge, and has recognized the disease, he will cut down on the amount of phenylalanine in the diet so that the child's brain will not be badly injured. This treatment must be begun in the first few weeks of life.

There is a rare (Wilson's) disease which runs through some families. It sometimes is called hepatolenticular degeneration. It tends to show up in people from 15 to 30 years of age. There may be tremors, with cirrhosis of the liver, and abnormalities of the pigment in the eyes. One of the main abnormalities in this disease seems to be in the body's handling of copper. As a result, copper tends to accumulate in the nerves and several of the tissues of the body. The sufferer may develop digestive troubles, plus Parkinson's syndrome (a poker face, stiff muscles, and shaking palsy) plus what looks a bit like St. Vitus dance.

Naturally, efforts are now being made to cut down on the amount of copper in the food of the children, who have the inherited tendency, and to get out of the body some of the copper that has been taken in.

Berlin Blame Not All Reds' Says Fulbright

LONDON (AP) — U.S. Senator William Fulbright told a press conference Saturday night the West is not entirely blameless for development of the Berlin crisis.

The Soviet Union is not the only culprit, the Arkansas Democrat said, and went on: "We bear heavy responsibilities for the stupidities of this situation, which is to my shame, as it is to anyone in the West."

"Certainly it was not just the fault of the Russians. The Americans contributed much to this. I do not know how much the British and others contributed. I do not want to be self-righteous about it."

Senator Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, was here as an observer at the British Commonwealth parliamentary conference, which discussed the projected entry of the United Kingdom into the European Common Market.

DETERMINE TERMS
Fulbright said it is urgent, in weighing the Berlin crisis, to determine what the Russians mean by such terms as "free city" and "free access." He said he believes the matter of such definitions is now being considered by U.S. State Secretary Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko in their talks in New York.

The Russians, he added, are with good reason concerned about the possibility that atomic weapons might be given to West Germany. "It is a matter of legitimate concern to the Russians," he said.

IN HOSPITAL in New York over the weekend was V. K. Krishna Menon, India's chief delegate to the United Nations. A Montefiore Hospital spokesman said Menon entered the hospital for "diagnostic studies" Friday and left Sunday.

HOME GARDEN

Winter Beauty, Color Aplenty

The wealth of beauty which can be planted at this time to produce winter color and interest is so great that the only difficulty lies in selection. In this general area, the first choice usually goes to the evergreens — both the cone-bearing (or coniferous evergreens) and the broad-leaf evergreens.

Each group has much to recommend it, and indeed one complements the other. A garden full of coniferous shrubs would look like a young forest, but when blended with a few of the broad-leaf evergreens and the leaf-losing trees or shrubs, the added interest is immediately apparent. For one thing, many of the broad-leaf kinds bear berries of different colors in fall and winter as do the skirrnias, firethorns and cotoneasters, and a few bear winter blossoms. One of the latter is arbutus unedo, the so-called strawberry tree.

The only group of plants which will give a mass of flower color in winter is the heath, or heather. Colors can be white, through rose-pink to dark crimson, and considering their ease of culture once their few fundamental needs are known, it is surprising that more small homes are not enlivened by their presence.

Several of the deciduous (leaf-losing) shrubs bear winter flowers, which almost without exception are deliciously fragrant.

Any mild spell during winter will open a few blossoms of witch-hazel (mammalis mollis). They lie close to the stems for protection and petals are narrow and ribbon-like as if to resist winter winds. The shrub's ultimate height is about eight feet.

Winter-sweet (chimonanthus fragrans) is another winter flowering scented shrub, but should only be planted where there is the protection afforded from other shrubs on the winter windward side. Laurustinus (viburnum tinus) is probably the most showy and the easiest of the winter evergreen bloomers.

Jasminum nudiflorum (the Chinese winter jasmine) will clothe a wall and flower unfailingly in all but the coldest snaps we might endure.

East Germans Boast of Big Nuclear Bomb

BERLIN (Reuters) — An East German army magazine boasted today of communism's military might and warned that one 100-ton megaton nuclear bomb would destroy a huge area of West Germany's Ruhr industrial zone "within a few seconds."

The monthly Arme Rundschau said one such bomb would cause complete destruction over a radius of about 25 miles and carry damage to a very large area beyond. Radioactivity from a 100-megaton bomb would turn an area between about 185 and 310 miles "in radius into a temporary death zone" for all living beings, particularly if the bomb exploded near the ground, the magazine said.

Women Push Bonner Idea On Russ Visit

A proposal by Attorney-General Robert Bonner that the Voice of Women send a delegation to Soviet Russia has been forwarded to the Voice of Women headquarters in Toronto.

In response to a plea by the Victoria branch for observance of World Peace Year, Mr. Bonner suggested the Voice of Women send a delegation to the International Trade Fair in Russia next year.

"WONDERFUL"

"We think it is a wonderful idea," said Mrs. M. C. McMorris, Victoria president. "Mr. Bonner further suggested our group should take a booth at the fair and staff it with Canadian women familiar with the Russian language."

"If we choose our representatives with care, a great deal of good might be accomplished."

Have you unintentionally "disinherited" a child?

Find out through a FAMILY SECURITY CHECK-UP

Most fathers pride themselves on their ability to look after their families.

Yet even the most loving fathers often find that the matter of family security gets to be a helter-skelter affair.

As a result, the people you love most may be missing out on things you could easily do for them.

Needless mistakes such as this could be distressing to any family.

How can you be sure that the provisions you have made for your family will do what you intend? Now, Metropolitan, the company you look to for authoritative information on physical health, offers you a way to check your financial health—the Family Security Check-Up.

More than an interview—a service

Your Metropolitan representative has been trained in Metropolitan's own schools and is qualified by solid experience to bring you this service. He is equipped with scientifically designed charts and tables that show you, in black and white, exactly where you stand.

Call your Metropolitan man for a Family Security Check-Up. There's no obligation—except to those you love.

WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT DOES FOR YOU

With the help of your Metropolitan man—

1. You check the facts: your pension plan, your home, your life insurance, your savings and other assets. You may be surprised to learn how much you're worth.
2. You weigh your responsibilities: mortgage or rent payments, education, retirement, accident and sickness emergencies; how much it would cost your family to live without you.
3. You learn where you stand. You determine your weak and strong points... whether the provisions you have made for your family will do what you intend. You get the facts in front of you.
4. You plan for the future. Based on these facts, you decide what action, if any, may be needed to give you a family security plan tailor-made to your own needs and ambitions—one which makes good sense for you.

N. AMERICA 'MARKET' PROPOSED

Chamber Opens Annual Meeting

HALIFAX (CP)—A North American common market developed slowly over a period of some 50 years was suggested today by Joseph Jeffery, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, to the opening luncheon of the chamber's annual meeting.

Mr. Jeffery, who said he was speaking for himself and "some friends who have had occasion to discuss the subject," and not on behalf of the chamber, declared that Canada is in for a trade war "the like of which we have not seen in our lifetime."

Stating that it is likely Britain will enter the European Common Market, he urged that Canada take early and active steps to counter the consequences.

HEMMED IN

"The Canadian economy," he said, "is gradually being hemmed in from three sides—from the Far East the fast-growing industrialized economies of Japan, China, Hong Kong and India have wage costs one-tenth of ours; from the south the giant United States market is largely denied to our manufacturers by high tariff barriers; and from the west it is almost certain that for reasons of economic self-preservation the United Kingdom must join the European Common Market."

The suggestion had been made and, Mr. Jeffery said, "for my money it is a very good one," that Canada should study the implications of developing a North American common market very slowly over the next half-century.

"This," Mr. Jeffery continued, "raises the blood pressure of many at first but surely we could adjust ourselves over a period of time and no one would be hurt too badly and long-range plans could be developed on a sound economic basis."

Mr. Jeffery, who is chairman of London Life Insurance Company, London, Ont., said an economic union would not mean, nor need to mean, a political union. He added:

"We as an independent sovereign nation would have markets thrown open to us that could lead us to heights of prosperity hitherto undreamed of."

Mr. Jeffery's comments were contained in a text made available to the press in advance of delivery.

Mr. Jeffery also said all Canadian citizens should participate in the political life of the country if the present way of life is to be maintained.

RAPS LAZINESS

"In the fight between East and West," Mr. Jeffery said, "it will not be communism that wins but free enterprise that loses through our own lazy inactivity."

"The time is not far off when a surrender of the reins of democracy may have passed the point of no return. It is high time we realized that the next election may very well be fought on the vital theme of socialism versus free enterprise, and socialism is but a step away from communism."

"Now is the time for you to decide what parties you are going to support, what you want their policies to be and then get out and support them voluntarily, not only with some of your hard-earned money but also with some real physical effort by attending meetings of your party organization, working on the hustings and generally making your weight felt as a Canadian citizen."

TOP PERFORMANCE:

Shell test crew reveals 5 ways to test your car for top performance—and how the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell can help you get it

To Shell experts, top performance is a scientific standard. They measure it with precision instruments. But any good driver can run a version of their basic tests. Here are 5 they recommend.

Is YOUR CAR really delivering its best?
It's easy to find out. Shell experts suggest five simple tests.

Test #1. Quick starting

Count the seconds it takes your engine to start your car. Under normal circumstances the engine should "snap to" in about two or three seconds. However, fast-starting depends on many factors. Ask your Shell dealer to check the condition of plugs, points, battery and carburetor. Ask him about Shell X-100 Premium Motor Oil for painless starts at all temperatures. And try Super Shell. It's blended with a frisky ingredient called butane—to give you quick, easy starts.

Test #2. Smooth running

Does your engine vibrate roughly when idling? Does it seem to "surge" as you pull away, then falter and fade? Sometimes these troubles can be corrected by minor adjustments of the carburetor and spark timing. Your Shell dealer can take care of this for you. But the problem may be the wrong blend of gasoline.

Shell scientists check figures after mileage test.

For example, summer heat may cause gasoline to bubble in the fuel lines. This leads to partial blockage, uneven flow of fuel. In spring and fall, carburetor icing due to dampness and cool temperatures may also cause rough idling in your engine.

Shell scientists protect you from rough idling year round. In summer, they adjust the volatility of Super Shell to bring you smooth, trouble-free driving. From October to May Shell adds an anti-icer to give added protection against carburetor icing.

Test #3. Reserve power

Next time you are accelerating onto the highway or overtaking another car, notice how your car accelerates. Now ask yourself:

- Did your car accelerate smoothly—with no faltering, no bogging down?
- Do you have plenty of power to spare? If you feel you've "run out of engine," Super Shell may be your answer. It contains TCP* additive to help restore lost power. Another Super Shell ingredient, called Platformate, contains components that release 11 per cent more energy than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline available.

Test #4. Knock

Accelerate up a long, steep hill and listen carefully.

If you hear a sharp, pinging noise in your engine, you've got knock. It could cause trouble.

Take no chances. Switch to Super Shell. Its formula includes no fewer than three ingredients to fight the various causes of knock.

Test #5. Miles per gallon

When you measure miles per gallon, follow these three simple steps.

1. Fill your tank to the brim. Write down your mileage reading.
2. Drive in your normal manner for at least three tankfuls. Keep a record of the exact amount you buy.
3. Fill your tank to the brim again. Add all the gallons you've bought (not counting the fill-up in step 1). Divide this amount into your total miles driven. This gives average miles per gallon.

Try this test with three tankfuls of Super Shell. You'll see what top performance really is.

Here are the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell—and what they do to give your car top performance

- #1 is TCP for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for extra power.
- #3 is anti-knock mix to resist all kinds of knocks.
- #4 is heavy alkanes to control "high-speed knock."
- #5 is butane for quick starts.
- #6 is mixed pentanes for fast warm-ups.
- #7 is an "anti-icer." (Added in cold weather.)
- #8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside.
- #9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

How Many Light Years Away Is the Nearest Star?

A light year, of course, is the distance travelled by a beam of light in one earth year. The speed of light is about 186,000 miles a second, which makes the distance of a light year equal to about six million, million miles. That is figure six, followed by 12 zeroes. The sun is a star, but it is only 93 million miles away from us. Its light distance is merely eight minutes, the time it takes for its light to reach us. All the other stars we see are years away, in terms of light.

North of the equator, the nearest star we see is Sirius, the Dog Star. This brilliant carbuncle follows the dazzling constellation of Orion over our winter skies. It is the most brilliant star seen from any where on earth. Sirius is at a distance of 8.6 light years, or about 50 million, million miles. When we look at the Dog Star, we are seeing light which set out towards us more than eight and a half years ago.

In the skies above the southern hemisphere, there are three stars at a distance of about 4.4 light years. The three are part of a starry unit, orbiting about each other. Two of them are bright enough and close enough together to be seen as a single star of first magnitude. We call them a double star. The fact that they are two stars can be detected only through a telescope. This double star is Alpha Centauri, the star of first importance in the constellation Centaur near the famous Southern Cross.

The third member of this starry unit is too dim for our eyes to see at all. The telescope shows it to be a small red dwarf star at an immense distance from the two bright stars. Slowly, slowly it revolves in a vast orbit around them.

Multiple Star System

Alpha Centauri, our nearest stellar neighbor, is a multiple star system. At the present time, the star nearest to our Solar System is the red dwarf revolving around the two bright central stars. For this reason, the little dwarf has been named Proxima, meaning near one. As it revolves with path will someday take it on the far side of its bright sisters, and Proxima will no longer be the star nearest to us.

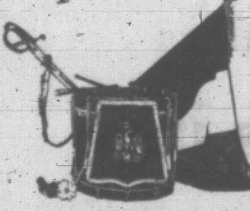

The distance of Proxima is about 4 1/2 light years, or roughly 25 million, million miles. The light which reaches the telescope from this nearest star set out to keep its rendezvous with earth four and a quarter years ago. Proxima cannot be seen without a telescope, but its sisters are seen as a single bright star in the southern skies. This double star also can be seen as far north of the equator as Florida and parts of Texas.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—You're always hearing stories about heartless, ungrateful show business stars—but they're not all true.

Take Mary Martin—and me. Mary was full gal the other day for the Circus, Saints and Sinners. I was sitting quietly in the back of the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf getting bumped by waiters, taking notes.

Mary was up there telling how the zipper down the front of her dress came open—and got jammed there—while she was in a car coming to the lunch. She was terrified of facing the male members like that.

"Even though," she laughed, "I started out as a stripper."

She giggled that she'd found a tailor shop, quickly got sewn up, arriving well covered, only a few minutes late.

Yes, it'd been all very heartwarming and nostalgic for Mary, who's leaving "Sound of Music" Oct. 7.

Especially about her overnight smash success in "Leave It to Me" with Victor Moore, Bill Gaxton and Sophie Tucker... 23 years ago... with her celebrated "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" striptease.

Roastmaster Tex O'Rourke had said it wasn't as much a strip as a fur sale.

"She'd toss away her mink and her ermine and her muskrat—but never actually got down to Martin," he said.

So I was sitting there, taking my notes, remembering back to that morning in 1938 when a great city editor, Gary Finley, now dead, said to me:

"Earl, go have a talk with that babe that stole last night's show."

And suddenly up on the stage there the other day at the Waldorf I heard Mary Martin telling everybody how "that Earl Wilson" yep, that's me!—did the very first interview with her.

"He came a little too soon," Mary laughed.

"I'd washed my hair and was drying it. I had my head in the oven (they didn't have hair dryers then) and he wrote about it on the front page!"

When they're rich, and famous, and don't need you any more—and still remember, out loud and in front of people, after almost a quarter of a century—that's Class!

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

The Jack Dempseys cha cha'd at Roseland... Playwright Sidney Kingsley's next show will have one set, eight central characters; it'll be finished soon... Dorothy Lamour'll call for memoirs "In and Out of My Sarong."

Susan Hayward and her husband, Eaton Chalkley, want to buy a vacation home in Galway Bay, Ireland... Rona ("Best of Everything") Jaffe is writing a B-way musical.

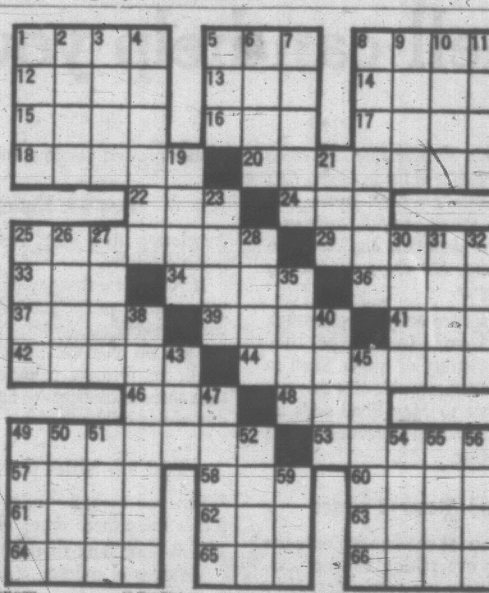

EARL'S PEARLS: Behind every woman in a mink coat is another woman making cracks about how she got it.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: When you hear that a man's going places, it doesn't always mean he's ambitious. It might just be that his wife's out of town.—Ira Washout.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Is there anything more out of date, asks Sid Bauman, than a Cuban travel poster?

Definition of a careful driver. A guy driving a car on which he's just made the last payment... That's earl, brother.

Report on Columbia Hearing Months Away

NAKUSP, B.C. (CP) — Provincial water rights controller Arthur Paget commented that he had heard some "extraordinarily intelligent briefs" as he concluded a public hearing here into the B.C. Power Commission's application for a licence to build the High Arrow Dam on the Columbia River.

He made the comment Saturday after two closing briefs contended that the hearings should have been called before the international treaty on development of the river had been signed by Canada and the United States.

Donald Waterfield, chairman of the water resources committee of the NAKUSP Chamber of Commerce, said both the controller and the affected parties had been placed in "a hopeless position" because the hearings were called only after conclusion of the treaty.

"Had we been able to present our petitions before, it is conceivable that the treaty might never have been signed," he said.

"And you, Mr. Controller, are in a hopeless position, for you cannot disallow a licence without interfering with an international treaty."

"CROSSED UP"
"It seems that you, sir, are compromised and an international treaty is compromised."

Somebody has crossed us up," Robert Cook, recording secretary of the Arrow Lakes water resources committee, said an injustice had been done in not calling the hearings before signing of the draft treaty, which is still to be ratified by the Canadian parliament.

"The interest of the people most involved, the local residents, has been callously disregarded," he declared.

Mr. Paget assured those at the hearing that everything presented to him in verbal and written briefs would be taken into account in considering the power commission's application.

One local resident, Mrs. Hazel Stack, protested that "this is just a hearing, apparently—when is there to be an answering?"

"When are we going to have the opportunity to ask direct questions and get direct answers?" she asked.

"If the licence is granted, then the applicant will have to give each individual direct answers," replied Mr. Paget.

He indicated it would probably be a matter of months before he completed his deliberations on the evidence presented to him.

Mr. Bonner, speaking to the B.C. Chiropractors' Association Saturday, said if the act is being properly invoked, it must be on the basis of some problem of navigation which cannot be physically overcome.

"Presumably since this project was discussed at Ottawa on various levels by the Peace River people during the past three years, this type of objection must have been known," he said. "It seems strange that it has come to the public's attention only in the last few weeks."

PEACE POWER PROGRESS UP TO OTTAWA-BONNER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Attorney-General Bonner says the federal government will be responsible for killing development in northern B.C. if it uses the Navigable Waters Protection Act to stop the Peace River power project.

Mr. Bonner, speaking to the B.C. Chiropractors' Association Saturday, said if the act is being properly invoked, it must be on the basis of some problem of navigation which cannot be physically overcome.

"Presumably since this project was discussed at Ottawa on various levels by the Peace River people during the past three years, this type of objection must have been known," he said. "It seems strange that it has come to the public's attention only in the last few weeks."

Minister Deplores Delay on Columbia

NANAIMO (CP) — Defence Production Minister Raymond O'Hurley said Saturday night the stalled international project to develop the Columbia River for power and flood control now has become "a noisy and senseless political issue."

He told a seminar of Young Progressive Conservatives here that "it would indeed be a great tragedy, if for reasons rather difficult to understand and appreciate, the development of the Columbia River were to be blocked by the will of one man."

'Nothing Can Replace' Farms At Arrow Lakes, Woman Pleads

NAKUSP (CP)—New homes and farms in other parts of the province would be inadequate recompense for having to leave the Arrow Lakes Valley, a farmer's wife declared in evidence Saturday before the public hearings on Columbia River development.

Mrs. Jean Spicer said she and her husband did not want to go to the "barren, dry" Okanagan Valley or the "damp" Fraser Valley.

"My husband and I have lived here in comfort and contentment, considering ourselves among the most fortunate people in the whole of B.C. and that means among the most fortunate in the world."

She explained that she was a person who had travelled extensively and knew B.C. to be among the best places to live.

"We have one of the most productive farms per acre in the whole of B.C. If our land is flooded we would lose the concentrated effort of our hearts and our hands during the last 12 years."

THE DAY ROGER BELTED NO. 61

Welcoming committee of two—teammate Yogi Berra and Yankee batboy—waited at home plate to greet Roger Maris after New York outfielder made baseball history Sunday by belting 61st home run of season. Record-setting homer into right-field seats came in fourth inning of the Yankees' 162nd and final game of season. (AP Wirephoto.)

Give Bucks Their Dues, They Made Wings Work

Dispar predictions or flimsy alibis are the normal fare expected from a hockey coach after he has watched his team take a thumping.

Hal Laycoe was having none of the usual procedure at Memorial Arena Saturday night after his Portland Buckaroos had been trimmed 4-0 by Detroit Red Wings. There were no tears and no excuses. All the Portland pilot served up was praise for his Bucks and admiration for the Wings.

Detroit, defeated by Chicago in last season's Stanley Cup final, stretched a six-year record of never having lost a pre-season exhibition game in western Canada with the conquest of the Bucks, who captured the Western Hockey League playoff title last spring.

"How did you like the way our boys played?" asked Laycoe. "We have been skating for only five days and Detroit has been training for 21, yet we made them work hard. I'm proud of the way our boys played. The Red Wings have a good club."

Few in the near-sellout crowd of almost 5,000 fans would deny that the big, fast Red Wings performed in the manner expected from a National Hockey League team. And that wouldn't find many who didn't agree that the Bucks rated praise.

Playing their eighth exhibition game and looking fit and capable enough to battle for the NHL lead this winter, the Wings were in command all the way. But in a game that was much faster and more interesting than Wednesday's tussle between Montreal Canadiens and Spokane Comets, the ever-trying Bucks seldom gave their vaunted opponents a chance to relax.

Mahovich Sparks Toronto Triumph

Frank Mahovich started and ended a furious four-goal assault in the final period that carried Toronto Maple Leafs to a convincing 6-1 exhibition hockey victory over Vancouver Canucks before more than 5,000 fans at Vancouver Sunday.

The big, hard-shooting winger roared the length of the ice to ignite the Toronto outburst at 1:58, taking the puck through the entire Vancouver team and blizzing a low shot into the far corner that beat goalie Claude Evans easily.

He ended the game's scoring at 17:31 on a pretty three-way play with Red Kelly and Bob Nevin.

Dave Leon, Dick Duff, captain George Armstrong and rookie Bill Dineen each scored once for the Leafs.

Ray Cyr, who with Larry Poppin and Evans were standouts for the Canucks, got the Vancouver goal at 8:37 of the first.

At Chilliwack Sunday Detroit Red Wings shut out San Francisco Seals of the Western Hockey League, 3-0.

Vic Stasiuk opened the scoring for the Wings in the first period and Andre Pronovost fired the second marker in the same frame. Detroit's third goal came in the third period on a shot from Leo Labine.

VISITOR'S THIRD SALMON

Angling Electrician Hits Derby Jackpot

There may not seem to be much of a connection between horse racing and salmon fishing, but Roy Warden parlayed them into a $100 payoff at Saanich Inlet.

Warden, a Monrovia, Calif., electrician currently working with the totillator at Sandown Park, hauled in a 14-pound, nine-ounce coho at 9:30 Sunday morning to win the $100 first prize in the annual Cerebral Palsy Coho Derby.

Art Midlane, who boated a 14-pound, two-ounce fish Saturday off Whiskey Point, took home the $60 second prize and Derek White picked up $40 after taking third place with the 13.10-pounder he weighed in Saturday at Deep Cove.

Fishing in the two-day derby, sponsored by the Lions Club and the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, was fairly good Saturday but on the poor side Sunday. Most popular with contestants were waters in the vicinity of Mill Bay.

Warden, fishing by himself and trolling an orange-and-white bucktail fly, hooked his derby-winner about half way between Senanus Island and Mill Bay.

An enthusiastic angler, Warden hasn't had too much success with British Columbia salmon. He landed one small salmon near Vancouver while

Ordeal Now Over for Maris But Controversy Continues

Yankee Slugger Belts 61st — 'Not Bad for .267 Hitter'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roger Maris claims "the ordeal is over," but actually the controversy merely started today over whether he or Babe Ruth should be recognized as baseball's official all-time home run king.

Emotionally exhausted, the 27-year-old Maris accepted congratulations in a semi-daze Sunday after becoming the first major leaguer ever to surpass Ruth by hitting 61 homers in a single season.

Commissioner Ford Frick has ruled that two separate records will go into the books. One will be Maris' mark of 61 homers for a 162-game season and the other Ruth's record of 60 in 154 games. That won't stop baseball fans from arguing, however, which should be considered the one and only all-time record.

Maris, by his own admission, "couldn't care less."

"A thing like this can make a nervous wreck of you," said the slugging New York Yankee outfielder, after socking his historic homer at Yankee Stadium Sunday.

"The pressure was terrific," he said. "Mentally much more than physically. You have no idea what it is to put up with something like this for two months. People around you all the time. You can't eat, you can't sleep—you can't even think."

"I know all about the World Series coming up Wednesday. I'll be doing my best. But let someone else shoot for the records. I'll be happy just to get my allotment of base hits."

Maris may not care, but for those who do, the World Series record for homers is four shared by Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Hank Bauer, of the Yankees and Duke Snider of the Dodgers.

Ruth Hit No. 60 Near Same Spot

Maris' 61st homer came off rookie right-hander Tracy Stallard of the Boston Red Sox in the fourth inning Sunday and proved to be the only run in a 1-0 victory that constituted the Yankees' 162nd and final game of the season.

The blow came on a 2-and-0 pitch and landed six rows back in the lower right field stands, 360 feet from home plate, and not too far from the spot where the immortal Ruth belted his 60th homer on Sept. 30, 1927, in the Yankees' next-to-last game of that season.

"Yup, I knew it was gone when I hit it," Maris answered almost laconically after the game.

Maris' 61st homer came off rookie right-hander Tracy Stallard of the Boston Red Sox in the fourth inning Sunday and proved to be the only run in a 1-0 victory that constituted the Yankees' 162nd and final game of the season.

"I don't have the slightest idea what I was thinking about going around the bases."

"Nope, I'm not going to use this bat anymore, even in the World Series."

"I'm glad I didn't break Ruth's record in 154 games."

"Do I think I can hit 62 next year? Good-bye!"

Maris patiently answered question after question hurled at him while posing for pictures with Sal Durante, a 19-year-old from Brooklyn who came to the game with his girl, Rose Marie Calabrese, and wound up catching the ball.

Young Fan's Gesture Moves Maris

Young Durante, who stands to collect a "reward" of $5,000 for the ball offered by a Sacramento, Calif., restaurateur, who in turn intends to hand it over to Maris, originally wished to give it to Roger for nothing.

Maris was quite moved by the gesture.

"What do you think of that?" he said to Red Sox catcher Russ Nixon when he came up to bat in the eighth inning. "The boy is planning to get married and he can use the money but he still wanted to give the ball back to me for nothing. It shows there's some good people left in the world after all."

Along with his 61 homers, Maris belted the season with 142 runs batted in, tops in the American League.

"Not bad for a .267 hitter," he grinned.

Maris' homer was his only hit in four trips to the plate. He fled to left in the first inning, struck out in the sixth and popped up to second base in the eighth.

The 23,154 fans, most of whom came out at the prospect of seeing Maris connect, gave him a tremendous ovation after he touched all the bases in the fourth and then tipped his helmet before disappearing in the dugout.

Maris, self-conscious to the end, wanted to duck into the dugout quickly but several of his Yankee teammates, led by Hector Lopez, kept pushing him out on the field so he could receive his deserved accolade.

Former Barbarian Paces White Win

Oak Bay Wanderers' "White" team, James Bay and Royal Roads stepped off on the right foot Saturday as the curtain went up on a new Victoria Rugby Union season.

Whites marked up the day's most impressive win by blanking Victoria College Vikings 14-0. James Bay edged Oak Bay Reds 8-5 and Royal Roads, scoring all of their points in the last half, downed Victoria College Norsemen 8-3.

Wick Wilson scored Norsemen's points on a penalty kick to give his team a 3-0 lead at intermission, but two tries by Gary Oke and a convert by Mark Leestri won the game for Royal Roads in the last half.

Oak Bay Whites' victory was highlighted by the appearance of a former Scottish international and Barbarian scrum half, Pat McLaughlin.

McLaughlin, who hails from Rhodesia, established a fine partnership with stand-off half Don Burgess and the two were able to send the back line away for some fine runs.

Vikings dominated the line-outs and controlled much of the loose play, but due to poor handling in the backfield were unable to capitalize on their advantage.

Bob Moore, Don Burgess, Paul Beck and Murray McAlpine scored tries for Whites. Burgess made good on one convert attempt to round out the scoring.

Gorge, Duncan Back In Top Boot Berth

Gorge Hotel and Duncan Rangers have climbed back into a first-place deadlock with Kickers in the Victoria and District Football League.

Kickers shattered a four-way deadlock at Athletic Park Saturday by blanking Evcoes 4-0 on two goals by Dick Neltstijn and single tallies by Henri Vanderhorst and Kurt Deldrich.

On Sunday, Gorge and Duncan climbed back into a tie with Kickers. The Hotelmen did it by clipping Canadian Scottish 4-2 in a fast-moving match at Central Park and Rangers racked up their third

THE DAY BABE CLOUTED NO. 60

Beaming Babe Ruth was congratulated by Lou Gehrig as he crossed home plate after establishing seasonal major league record of 60 home runs by belting Tom Zachary's pitch into right-field bleachers at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 30, 1927. Batboy was next to extend hand. Washington catcher was Bennie Tate, umpire was Bill Dineen. Players were not yet wearing numbers on uniforms. (Nea Photo.)

Mantle May Not Start In Series' First Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees said today he doubted he would be able to play in the opening World Series game Wednesday against Cincinnati at Yankee Stadium.

Mantle was released this morning from hospital where he has been recuperating from minor surgery on an abscess on his right hip. He had expected to work out with the Yankees.

"If I feel like this Wednesday, I won't be able to play," he said in the Yankee clubhouse. "I still feel very weak. The leg hurts. I can't run on it. I was hoping to work out but I can't."

Mantle said he had lost five pounds since the operation. He said the fact that the abscess was under a muscle made it more difficult and more painful.

Asked if he would be able to play at all in the series, Mantle replied, "I just don't know when I can play."

"You never can tell," he added with an effort to be careful. "Maybe it will get better quicker than I think."

As the Yankees finished the regular American League schedule Sunday, they gave Cincinnati a preview of their strong pitching and Roger Maris' power in a 1-0 decision over Boston Red Sox.

Maris' 61st homer of the year provided the only run. Bill Stafford, Hal Reniff and Luis Arroyo combined for the shutout. Stafford is slated to start the third game of the best-of-seven series.

Pitcher Jim O'Toole of the National League-Reds is to start the first game against Whitey Ford.

BATTING CHAMPS
Baseball crowned two brand-new batting champions in addition to its new all-time home-run king.

Even while Maris wrote a new mark of 61 home runs in a season onto the books Sunday, Detroit Tigers' Norm Cash became the new batting champion of the American League and Pittsburgh Pirates' Bob Clemente became the new National League champion.

Cash, who hit only 286 in 1960, went 2-for-3 in the Tigers' 8-3 victory over Minnesota Twins to finish with a .361 average while Clemente, a .314-hitter last year, survived the strong finish of Cincinnati's Vada Pinson to wind up with a .351 mark. Clemente did not play in the Pirates' last six games of the season because of an arm injury.

Maris, in addition to setting his new homer mark, beat out Baltimore Orioles' Jim Gentile in the RBI race with 142 to 141. Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco won the National League's RBI crown with 142 compared to 124 for Frank Robinson of the Reds.

Cepeda also won the home-run crown of the NL with 46, followed by teammate Willie Mays' 40 and Robinson's 37. Mickey Mantle of the Yankees was second to Maris' AL homer total with 54 and Gentile and Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins each had 46.

Hornets Stung By Colts

Richmond Colts protected their first-place position in the Fraser Valley Junior Football League at Macdonald Park Sunday by coming from behind an early deficit to trip Victoria Hornets 16-13.

Colts broke a 7-7 halftime deadlock by scoring a converted touchdown and safety in the third quarter and then held out against Hornets' fourth-quarter rally.

Bruce McFarlane blocked a Richmond kick and ran it to the one-yard line to set the stage for a touchdown by Barry Neff in the opening quarter. Neff converted to give the Hornets a 7-1 lead.

CAUGHT BEHIND LINE
Doug Staveley, who had booted a first-quarter single, passed to Hedley Baskerville for a Richmond touchdown in the second canto.

Staveley ran for a major in the third quarter. Colts picked up the extra point on a pass play and then added another two points when Hornets were caught behind their own line for a safety.

Gordie Sinclair scampered 15 yards for an unconverted major in the final period for Hornets, who have now won two games and lost four.

PARET REGAINS TITLE

Busy Benny Paret bounces punch off nose of Emilie Griffith in 10th round of battle for world welterweight boxing crown Saturday night at New York. Paret, a 4-1 underdog, tagged Griffith with enough punches to regain title on split decision. Griffith had won championship by knocking out Paret last April.

Vampires Blast Record; Take Over League Lead

Victoria Vampires blasted the perfect defensive record of Oak Bay Farmers into little pieces at Carnarvon Park Sunday and jumped into a two-point lead in the Vancouver Island Junior Football League.

Farmers, who had not yielded a point in winning their first three games this season and started Sunday's battle in a first-place deadlock with the Vampires, gave up three touchdowns and went down to a 24-13 defeat.

Mounting a solid, alert defence and flashing an explosive attack behind the pass-throwing talents of Brian Rigby, Vampires cashed in on an early break and never looked back on their way to a fourth straight victory.

PICKED UP FUMBLE
In the opening minutes, Darrel Thom scooped up a farmer fumble and scampered 45 yards for a touchdown. The conversion attempt failed but Rigby later booted a single to give the Vamps a 7-0 first-quarter lead.

In the second period, Rigby kicked another single and then hit Dennis Todd with an electrifying 50-yard pass. Todd went the remaining 22 yards for a touchdown, converted by Dan Hess.

Oak Bay struck back to make it 15-7 at the half. John Todd booted a single and Terry Cox breaking through on a 50-yard run for an unconverted touchdown.

STRONG DEFENCE
Vampires boosted the count to 24-7 in the third quarter. Rigby kicked a single and then fired a 25-yard, touchdown toss to Dennis Todd. Hess added the convert.

Cox broke loose for another Oak Bay touchdown in the closing stages of the hard-fought battle.

Standouts on the Vampire defence, which held Farmers in their own end most of the way were Thom, a linebacker, and tackle Emo Wigwig. Gordie Archer was a tower of strength at offensive tackle for the winners.

U.S. Netters Defeat India

NEW DELHI (AP) — The United States advanced to the inter-zone finals of Davis Cup tennis competition today when Whitney Reed of Oakland, Calif., defeated India's Jaidip Mukerjee 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

The straight-set victory gave the U.S. a 3-1 lead in the best-of-five matches and made the final match between Chuck McKinley of St. Louis and Ramanathan Krishnan a formality.

Krishnan wound up the festivities by defeating McKinley 6-3, 4-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4 in a long-drawn match that had no significance in view of Reed's earlier victory.

The U.S. won Sunday's double match.

Bird on Extra Hole Feathers Fleck Nest

BAKEFIELD, Calif. (AP) — The 1955 U.S. National Open champion, Jack Fleck, dropped a 10-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole to defeat Bob Rosburg, in a sudden-death playoff in the $25,000 Bakersfield Open golf tournament Sunday.

Fleck, 39, came down the stretch with a fourth-round 65 to post a 12-under-par 276 to tie the 54-hole Fleck had trailed the 54-hole leader, John Gustin, by six shots.

Rosburg forced the playoff by dropping an eight-foot putt on the 72nd hole for a birdie. Gustin finished in a three-way tie for fifth.

Al Balding of Toronto blew up to a 74, after shooting the first three rounds in 70-71-69, for a 284 total and a three-way tie for 16th place. He won $530.

Long Runs... and Then Great Joy

Then suddenly B.C. quarterback Joe Kapp was fading back to his own five-yard line and letting fly with a 60-yard pass that fleet halfback Willie Fleming took on the dead run behind two Edmonton defenders.

The former Iowa flash ran the rest of the way to the touchdown and the Lions were ahead.

Less than two minutes later, Lions got the ball on downs and veteran fullback By Bailey punched through the Edmonton line and into the clear for a 38-yard touchdown to clinch the triumph.

The jubilant Lions hoisted coach Dave Skrien to their shoulders and carried him off the field as the crowd went wild at the final gun. Skrien recently replaced deposed head coach Wayne Robinson, who was suspended because of the team's dismal record.

The deciding touchdown was the second of the game for Fleming, who missed Lions' last game with a crushed toe. He galloped 54 yards in the second quarter for his first touchdown.

Guard Vic Kristopaitis kicked three converts to round out Lions scoring.

For the Eskimos, who led in virtually every statistical department, halfback Bob Walden scored a touchdown and single, and quarterback Jackie Parker kicked a convert and single.

OUTRUSHED LIONS
Esks made 22 first downs to B.C.'s nine and outrushed the Lions 250 yards to 165. Lions made 186 yards passing to Edmonton's 122, but 100 yards of the B.C. total was on the Kapp-to-Fleming touchdown.

Three pass interceptions and several clipping penalties stalled Eskimos on dangerous marches, and in the late stages the B.C. line held in the clutch.

At Winnipeg, 14,554 fans sat through a one-sided match in 29-degree weather made chillier by a 17-mile-an-hour northwest wind.

Bombers grabbed the lead the first time they got their hands on the ball, Leo Lewis capping an 82-yard march with a brilliant 28-yard dash through a gang of Saskatchewan players. The 6-0 score stood through the first quarter and Winnipeg made it 15-0 at the half. Saskatchewan tackle Reg Whitehouse kicked the first of two field goals for the only scoring of the third quarter and Bombers outscored Riders 14-3 in the last quarter.

REPLACED PLOEN
Other Winnipeg touchdowns were by Norm Rauhaus, on a 30-yard run after intercepting a pass, and ends Farrell Funston and Ernie Pitts on passes from quarterback Hal Ledyard, who took over from Ken Ploen in the third quarter. Fullback Gerry James kicked three converts—missing on the first touchdown—and a single. Charlie Shepard added a single on a 69-yard quick kick.

Ottawa Rough Riders volleyed and thundered to a pulverizing 47-21 victory over Hamilton Tigercats in Saturday's only Eastern Conference match.

The volleying was done by substitute quarterback Ron Lancaster, who threw three touchdown passes, and the thundering by tough rookie halfback Chuck Stanley.

RECORD CROWD
A record 22,400 fans saw the game in Ottawa.

Hamilton end Hal Patterson suffered a serious injury to his right arm on a third-quarter pass play and left the stadium with the arm in a sling.

Stanley, 185-pound American from South Carolina State A and M, didn't score any points but he set up one touchdown with a 62-yard run and rushed a total of 187 yards in 15 carries. Riders had 419 yards rushing to Hamilton's 78.

Hammaraskjold: Custodian of the Peace

By JOSEPH P. LASH

Chapter 7

The UN Security Council needed only a few minutes in September, 1957, to agree on recommending Dag Hammarskjold's reappointment to a second five-year term as Secretary-General, and the vote in the General Assembly was equally unanimous.

He is "surely our supreme international civil servant," said the president of the Assembly in welcoming the decision, a man of "scrupulous objectivity" and "self-effacing" in the performance of his task.

His missions to Peking and the Middle East had conferred extraordinary authority on this unobtrusive civil servant. He used the occasion of his reappointment to announce that he intended to use that authority to the full on behalf of the organization and its purposes. In 1953 he had described the Secretary-General's role as that of "an instrument, a catalyst, an inspirer." Now he enunciated a doctrine regarding the Secretary-General's powers and responsibilities that came much closer to the concept of leadership than instrument.

Duty to Act

Within the limits set by the Charter and the decisions of the main organs of the UN, he considered it his "duty" to use his office and, indeed, the machinery of the organization to its utmost capacity and to the full extent permitted to each stage by practical circumstances. He should not be asked to act if there were no guidance for his action to be found either in the Charter or UN decisions.

"On the other hand, I believe that it is in keeping with the philosophy of the Charter that the Secretary-General should be expected to act also without such guidance, should this appear to him necessary in order to help in filling any vacuum that may appear in the systems which the Charter and traditional diplomacy provide for the safeguarding of peace and security."

It was a characteristically Hammarskjoldian understatement. Its significance only became apparent ten months later when such a "vacuum" appeared during the Council's consideration of the Lebanese question.

When the Soviet veto of the Japanese resolution prevented the council from taking measures that appeared to be essential to stave off further deterioration, Hammarskjold enumerated the steps he intended to take to strengthen the UN operation in Lebanon.

They were essentially the steps which had been proposed in the vetoed resolution. He would, he added, "of course accept the consequences" if members of the council disapproved. No one did.

The 'Fallback'

He thus provided a "fallback" position. If in a crisis the council and assembly were to be formally stalemated, he would be prepared to act on the basis of his reading of the "consensus" underneath the deadlock.

But the philosophy of acting without a formal decision was to be carried a step further. Member states which found themselves in difficulties could invite the secretary-general to "good offices" and he would respond without formal decision by any other organ of the UN.

Cambodia and Thailand became embroiled in a border dispute which led to a rupture in diplomatic relations. After discussions with the secretary-general they directed parallel invitations to him inviting him to appoint a special representative to help them get over their difficulties.

Hammarskjold informally consulted the members of the council and then appointed Ambassador Beck-Fris, with whose help diplomatic relations were resumed and the way paved to a general improvement of relations between the two countries.

More Effective

"You can see how much more effective and smooth-working such a technique is than the regular one, which involves all the meetings and debates, and so on," he commented.

At one of the first news conferences after Hammarskjold was notified of his selection as secretary-general, he was asked whether Soviet agreement on his candidacy was a sign the Soviet bloc intended to end the cold war.

"I can't put any such interpretation on my appointment," he answered carefully, "but I think I can interpret it as a sign of a more co-operative spirit on the part of the Big Five."

When he assumed office he considered the supreme, inescapable challenge facing the UN to be the peaceful resolution of the conflict between the Communist world and the West. Speaking to the UN staff in Geneva, he commented that "where our predecessors dreamt of a new heaven, our greatest hope is that we may be permitted to save the old earth."

Soon Ran Afoul

1953 was a time when powerful forces in both camps regarded co-existence as a form of appeasement. Hammarskjold soon ran afoul of the U.S. intransigents on this issue. With an armistice in Korea close at hand, he spoke sympathetically of "a war which ends without victory for any party" but only for the principle of collective action against aggression, an armistice which should be followed "by a peace without vengeance."

The proper role of the UN in regard to the cold war was "primarily as a centre of reconciliation." The UN, in a dangerously divided world, could neither enforce peace nor impose political settlements.

But it could function effectively as a centre "for harmonizing the actions of nations" in the attainment of common ends. It could bring to bear upon differences and conflicts of interest "month in and month out, the overriding common interest and to do this in terms of the principles and purposes of the Charter."

The UN should be used for a diplomacy of conciliation, not for waging the cold war. Hammarskjold pleaded for less rattling of verbal sabres and greater emphasis on using the UN to negotiate settlements. This was not too palatable either to the Russians or the Americans.

Keelhauling

Henry Cabot Lodge's way of selling the UN to the segments of U.S. opinion which had been hostile to it was to demonstrate its opportunities for keelhauling the Russians. He declined to allow himself to be publicly photographed shaking hands with Soviet diplo-

as in every other, Soviet officials divided in their views about Hammarskjold and the UN. There were strong forces in the foreign ministry who were against using the UN too much. The U.S.S.R. had suffered too many defeats there. Gromyko was presumed to be the chief exponent of this group. But this changed with the influx of Afro-Asians into the UN, and the more flexible policy pursued by Khrushchev in the unassigned areas of the world.

The Russians were even more reluctant to forego the propaganda potentialities of the UN. They were angry with Hammarskjold when he reported U.S. and British intentions to withdraw their troops from Lebanon and Jordan in a way that made it impossible for them to raise a storm over Western "interventionism" in the assembly.

Soviet diplomats preached ending the cold war and the need for peaceful co-existence, but clearly regarded these themes as forms of struggle against the West. Like disarmament, it was often difficult to ascertain whether their interest was in disarming or in making propaganda about the need to do so.

Hammarskjold became the apostle of "quiet diplomacy." In the Soviet foreign office, as in every other, Soviet officials divided in their views about Hammarskjold and the UN. There were strong forces in the foreign ministry who were against using the UN too much. The U.S.S.R. had suffered too many defeats there. Gromyko was presumed to be the chief exponent of this group. Like disarmament, it was often difficult to ascertain whether their interest was in disarming or in making propaganda about the need to do so.

Hammarskjold became the apostle of "quiet diplomacy." In the Soviet foreign office, issue. Khrushchev, as a leading advocate of a more imaginative and vigorous approach to Asia and Africa, was not unfavorably disposed toward the UN, although as a power-oriented leader he shared some of de Gaulle's disdain for international organizations.

BISHOP WILL CENSOR FREEMASON SERVICES

LONDON (Reuters)—An Anglican bishop announced Sunday he will censor all forms of services held by Freemasons in churches in his diocese because of "heretical sentiments" in Masonic rituals.

Dr. Mervyn Stockwood, bishop of Southwark, London, said he took particular exception to Masonic prayers and hymns that included phrases describing heaven as "the grand lodge above where the great architect reigns."

Stockwood declared such terms were unknown in church tradition and were heretical.

Airline Pilot Protest Wins DC-8 Check

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Federal Aviation Agency chief Najeeb Halaby said Saturday sweeping changes will be made in the hydraulic system of the DC-8 jetliner.

Speaking to a symposium of the Society of Experimental Test Pilots, Halaby said the changes follow a "series of serious malfunctions in the hydraulic systems of the jetliner fleet."

Six hundred Eastern Airlines pilots served notice Saturday they would stop flying DC-8 jets in three days if the FAA didn't assure them the plane's hydraulic system was safe.

Friday night two United Airlines DC-8s carrying 148 passengers altogether made safe emergency landings at Chicago and Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

Halaby said the planes will not be grounded while the changes are being made unless something unforeseen occurs.

In Vancouver a spokesman for Trans-Canada Air Lines said the firm has had only two minor incidents involving the DC-8 hydraulic system.

And Canadian Pacific Airlines said the firm had had no unusual problems.

Capt. S. E. Smith, spokesman here for the Canadian Airline Pilots' Association, said there had been "minor incidents" of nose-wheel trouble with the jets. He said they were not serious.

LAW COURTS BUILDING OFFERS NEW VIEWPOINT FOR OLD VISTAS

Victoria's newest landmark, the Law Courts building, can be seen from several quarters of the city and also shows them off to advantage for the viewer able to stand on its roof, as these photos by Irving Strickland show. The $2,000,000 structure is well ahead of schedule and provincial officials hope to hold the opening ceremonies in February, possibly during the legislative session.

section of the downtown area. YWCA building in foreground, at the intersection, will be vacated when the proposed $1,000,000 YWCA-YWCA building goes up in civic precinct east of courthouse.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have to hand a letter which starts out: "Dear Monte: I've never written a fan letter. And this letter has given me pause for thought. It is a very nice letter, most welcome, and most warming to my ego."

But what I am pausing to think about is the deprecation implied in "I've never written a fan letter."

The inference seems to be, it is gauche to write a "fan letter," a thing which calls for an apology before the fact. I notice the same type of missive in the letters to the editor columns of various newspapers and magazines: "This is the first time I have written a letter to the editor."

It is as if writing down your opinions for exposure in the public prints isn't really done, old boy. A bit naive, what?

As a person who receives a fan letter from time to time, I am all in favor of them.

As a diligent reader of letters to the editor, I am all in favor of seeing other people's opinions set forth in print.

And I can see no need of an apologetic approach to either the fan letter or the letter to the editor.

A great many people who are going around and about, just doing the best they can, would be greatly cheered by a fan letter.

Ever thought of writing your alderman, or MLA, or MP, or police commissioner, or PEA member, or postman, baker, butcher, service station attendant, and telling him he's doing a good job?

Most of them are doing the best they can, and might even try to do a little better than their best if they thought they were being appreciated.

And your opinion on the affairs of the city, province or nation—as expressed in a letter to the editor—could be one of the little drops of water, little grains of sand, which make the mighty, etc., etc.

So let's not feel apologetic about writing a letter which says "bully for you," or even "what gives with you?"

Your alderman, MLA, MP, police commissioner, PT member, postman, baker, butcher, service station attendant (or even me) will become one happy fellow.

Besides, the post office department can use the business.

'No Flu Vaccine Rushed Here' Says Health Chief

Metro Health Board chief Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread today described a weekend scare report of an impending influenza epidemic as "totally inaccurate."

The senior MHO said contrary to reports published in the morning newspaper, no supplies of influenza vaccine are being rushed here for distribution on a mass scale to teachers, police, firemen and other essential workers.

"The report must have been based on a misinterpretation," he said.

NONE DOING IT

"No health department in B.C. is going to obtain and distribute influenza vaccine and that includes the Greater Victoria Metro Health Board," he said.

"No vaccine is being rushed here or anywhere. There is no epidemic imminent."

Dr. Whitbread said the U.S. public health department had issued a long-range outlook noting a possible upswing final show of the year. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

Burglars Busy On Weekend

Eight burglaries and a car prowling netted $528 cash and $100 worth of personal effects over the weekend in Victoria.

Thieves made their biggest strike at the joint premises of Skyway Cafe and C and C Transportation, 906 Government, where $172 in Canadian and U.S. coin and about $190 in U.S. travellers' cheques were taken.

At the cafe, a cigarette machine was forced open by sawing through a padlock hasp and all the money and cigarettes were stolen.

The burglary was discovered at 12:55 a.m. Sunday.

Other premises hit were Totem Grill, 2901 Douglas, $36; Jones Battery Shop, 1314 Quadra, $18.50; Lloyd's Cafe, 766 Yates, $112; R. E. Johnston Ltd., 1321 Quadra, nil; Wescraft Manufacturing, 2811 Douglas, nil; Royal Theatre, 805 Broughton, nil.

Brothers Rescued After Boat Flips

Two brothers were plucked nearly exhausted from Haro Strait Sunday noon, a half-hour after their 10-foot outboard capsized off Ten Mile Point.

The rescued men—Kenneth Mayzes, 32, of 760 Cameo, and Harvey Mayzes, 37, of 900 Admirals—were thoroughly chilled and hazy about the actual rescue, but suffered no ill effects.

ON THE JOB

Both men were at their jobs today.

Sea Shell Steaming 'Full Ahead'

Everything's ship-shape with Sea Shell.

Sea Shell is the code name given to a combined U.S. Canadian exercise to strengthen Pacific capability in anti-submarine warfare.

The exercise made up of an international fleet involving more than 10,000 men embarked in 150 ships, submarines, and aircraft is being conducted off the west coast of the United States and Canada.

NO HITCHES

The full-scale test got underway Saturday with the recall of all Esquimalt personnel from shore leave. A Navy spokesman said the recall had been completed "without a hitch."

Sea Shell will last for two weeks. Senior officers of the United States and Canada have been allotted to command in the different areas of responsibility.

These areas include the California-Oregon-Washington sector, the Canadian area and the Alaskan region.

Rear Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, RCN, Canadian Maritime Commander Pacific, is commanding forces in the Canadian sector.

GRILE AN 'ENEMY'

On the "enemy side" are submarines sent by the Submarine Force, US Pacific Fleet, and the Canadian sub HMCS Grisle.

Other Canadian participation in the Sea Shell exercise consists of two squadrons of RCN escorts, the second squadron commanded by Captain V. Browne and the fourth by Captain E. T. C. Madgwick.

Voting Oct. 21 On School Plan

Greater Victoria School District No. 61 ratepayers will vote on a multi-million-dollar construction bylaw Oct. 21 in Central Junior High School, it was announced today.

Frank Hunter, appointed returning officer for the vote, said balloting hours will be 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the single polling station.

School trustees have not yet announced the total sum they seek for classroom construction nor how the money will be spent.

STILL WAITING

Board chairman W. C. Gelling said the long-delayed bylaw has been sent to the department of education in draft form "and we still are awaiting the government's approval."

"I can't reveal the bylaw until we have the go-ahead from the cabinet," he said.

However, it is expected by observers that the bylaw will be in the $3,000,000 range. It will concentrate on construction of elementary classrooms—in line with the government's decision reassigning Grade 7 to the elementary level.

Other items probably will include several projects to replace aged school buildings such as North Ward and South Park schools.

NEW HEADQUARTERS

It also is believed that the bylaw will include provision for construction of a new administration centre.

Pressure is mounting for relocation of the board's administrative offices which now occupy Craigdarroch Castle, frequently mentioned as an ideal building for a civic museum or archives.

The new bylaw originally was scheduled to go before ratepayers last spring. But a vote was deferred pending release of the Chant royal commission on education report.

FIFTH VOTE

Subsequently, date for the vote was tentatively set back several times to await outcome of provincial legislation in the wake of the Chant report.

The bylaw will be the fifth money vote sponsored by the board.

The third money bylaw—put to ratepayers several years ago—was defeated heavily but a cut-down version passed the fourth vote.

Rites Tuesday For 91-Year-Old Native Daughter

Funeral services will be held for a 91-year-old native daughter, Nicole Dorothy Becker, Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at McCall's Funeral Chapel.

Miss Becker is survived by a brother, Christian William Becker, and two nieces, Mrs. Kent W. Hewitt and Miss Margaret Jean Becker, all of Los Angeles, Calif.

Miss Becker, who was honored in the 1958 B.C. centennial celebrations, was a prominent member of the B.C. Pioneer's Society.

Interment will be in the family plot, Ross Bay.

ONLY FOUR POLIO CASES

Polio has taken a holiday from B.C. this year—and public health officials hope it will be a permanent one.

There have been only four cases of polio in the province to date. Most recent one was last month.

At the same time last year there were 148 cases, and nine people died from polio in 1960.

Deputy Health Minister Dr. G. F. Amyot today reminded the public that it is time for many people to get booster shots of Salk vaccine.

"There is plenty of free vaccine available for everyone, regardless of age," he said.

Music Leader Fred King Dies at 87

A leading musical figure in Victoria for nearly half a century, Frederic Charles King, died Sunday at the age of 87.

Mr. King was born in Ashford, Kent, England, and had been a resident of this city for 45 years.

SALESMAN

He lived in Seattle for 18 years before settling in Victoria where, for 35 years, he worked as a piano salesman for the former well-known firm of Fletcher Brothers.

The genial Mr. King took an active part in promoting choral music in the city. He founded the original Meistersingers male voice chorus in the 30s and also the former Schubert Club, a female voice ensemble, which he conducted for 30 years.

He had also been a conductor of Congregational and Metropolitan Church choirs and the Victoria Male Choir, which has since amalgamated with the Arion Choir.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Was North America the only continent involved in the ice age? A. L.

A. No. Besides the Laurentide Ice Sheet which covered most of North America there were the Greenland, Scandinavian and Siberian Ice Sheets. Mountain ranges such as the Alps, Caucasuses, Pyrenees and Andes also had their own glacial fields surrounding them.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem story to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Realistic Bird Mobiles
Add Color to Any Room

By PENNY SAVER

Newest thing in popular mobiles is line of flying birds imported from Japan. Bodies are made of paper mache while realistic wings are feathered and sway up and down, giving illusion of flight, when long springs from which birds are hung are set in motion. Birds come in either red, yellow, blue or turquoise and sell at $1.19.

There's nothing more aggravating when parking downtown than to get your car in position, and then find that you don't have a single penny in change.

To save unnecessary dashes for change install one of the handy car coin holders I've seen this week. There are two types, both priced at $1.50.

First is in form of a gilded tray complete with slotted coin holder while other is a simulated crocodile case with holders for all size coins inside. Cases come in either red, black or brown. Another, in smooth leather, comes in beige.

Some of my friends who are avid Charles Dickens' fans are enthusiastic about sets of English china ash trays that have just arrived in town. There's six ash trays in the set and each of them sells for 75 cents. Looking so real that you expect them to walk right out of the picture are Little Nell, Uriah Heep, Mrs. Gamp, Mr. Pickwick, Miss Nipper and Mr. Micawber.

To team up with them are bridge score pads, encased in tan parchment, made by a woman in Vancouver. Covers are bright with hand-painted Dickens figures and edges are hand-tooled and bound with silk cord. These sell at $1.95.

If any of these items have caught your fancy and you would like to know where to shop give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131.

It's a Mistake to Miss
Breakfast—Should Be a Must

When a person is going to skip one meal a day, it is most often breakfast, and so far as nutrition is concerned, there does not seem to be an adequate substitute for this meal. Few people make up for its loss at the two other meals.

The study I am reporting dealt with Junior High Lowman students, but I am sure that the facts are just as important to housewives who miss this meal, and to the thousands of men and women who wish to work with only a cup of coffee and perhaps a doughnut or sweet roll under their belts.

This study of high school pupils showed that only one in five young persons who had no breakfast, or even a poor breakfast, made up for it at the two other meals. Another study showed that those who ate breakfast came closer to meeting the recommended daily allowances of food essentials than those who did not eat breakfast. The deficiencies showed up most often in an inadequate vitamin C and calcium intake, although the intake of other essentials was low, too.

I was extremely interested in some facts which were uncovered. The girls who went without breakfast snacked much more than the girls who ate breakfast. The girls who did not eat breakfast got 18 per cent of all their total calorie count from snacks, whereas the ones who ate breakfast only used seven per cent of their intake on snacks. Also, the study showed that the girls who missed breakfast ate more "empty" calories (lacking in food value other than calorie count) than those who ate breakfast. Again, the girls who skipped the morning meal got more than 500 calories from all types of desserts, while those who ate breakfast used only about 400 calories on desserts.

It is a mistake to miss breakfast for several reasons. In the first place, few people have enough nutrition know-

DEAR ABBY

She's at Fault

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Church Fenced — Report given at meeting of Vesuvius Bay Woman's Auxiliary Circle on Salt Spring Island showed that a fence had been erected around St. Nicholas Church and paid for by the group. Arrangements were made for winter care of the church and adornment and care of the altar and sanctuary. Mrs. Anna Thompson was made an honorary member. Tea was served by Mrs. F. Agnew and Mrs. Van Pelt.

DEAR ABBY: I am the frustrated father of an 18-year-old girl. She has just acquired her first steady. My problem is that this boy (20) stays to watch the late, late show, eats a sandwich and then necks with my daughter. I lie awake upstairs checking the clock periodically. This morning at 3.30 he was still here. I got angry and went to the landing and shouted, "It's 3.30—GO HOME!" The boy left and my daughter passed me silently in the hall and went to her room.

This morning my daughter told me she was embarrassed by my actions. She said, "I am old enough to take care of myself, etc., etc." I said midnight was late enough on week nights, and 2 a.m. on week-ends, for working people. Do you think I was in the wrong? My daughter does.

FRUSTRATED DAD.

DEAR DAD: If the house rules you had set up before-hand were ignored, you had every right to break up the party at that hour. But you should have done it quietly, firmly and personally with your daughter. He stays, eats and "necks" with a willing partner. She is your problem. Don't shout at him.

CLUB CALENDAR

Women's Auxiliary to Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's), Wednesday in home of Mrs. John B. Murray, 1790 North Dairy Road. For transportation, meet at Bay Street Armory, not later than 7.45 p.m.

Women's Auxiliary to Royal Canadian Navy, Tuesday at 8 p.m., reading room, HMCS Naden library. Guest speaker, Surg. Capt. J. Rogers, RCN; topic, the well baby clinic.

DEAR ABBY: I am planning to have a November wedding. It will be a formal church wedding with about 300 guests. I have studied voice for two years, and everyone says I have a very good soprano voice. I wish to sing at my own wedding. My parents and the few friends I have mentioned this to have tried to discourage me. My fiancé suggested I write to you for the final decision. Thank you.

NOVEMBER BRIDE.

DEAR BRIDE: Don't use your wedding guests as a captive recital audience. Why not ask your voice teacher to sing?

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a married man for six months. We work in the same place. He says he loves me and hates his wife, but won't leave her because everything they own is in both names, and his wife would get everything. Is this a law?

I left my husband and children and have taken a room. Now everybody is talking about me. Don't you think a woman is foolish to live with a man who hates her? This man's wife is a very dull person, and lives just for her children. I know I can make him happy. Shall I call his wife or go to see her?

UNHAPPY.

DEAR UNHAPPY: Don't call this man's wife and don't go to see her. She is sticking by her marriage vows, which is more than you have done. The man has given you good reasons why he won't leave his wife. You need to pray for forgiveness and strength to live a loyal and decent life again.

Couple Married in Quebec Now Living in Victoria

Recently, in Lachute, P.Q., Eunice Irene, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Allan Griffith of that city, exchanged vows with Ernest Stanley Shortt, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Shortt of Victoria.

Rev. Wilson Bridge officiated at the ceremony in Lachute United Church. Organist was L. Hopkins. Mrs. Bridge sang, "Love Divine" and "O Father, All Creating." Church was decorated with multi-toned gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with a boat neckline and embroidered net front panel and bodice. Bouffant skirt had a bustle back and was in train. A coronet of seed pearls and iridescent crystals held the tulle illusion net veil. Pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis were in the bouquet.

Identical gowns of blue peau de soie were chosen by matron of honor, Mrs. Rexford Griffith, and bridesmaids, the Misses Grace Gordon and Joyce Davis.

They wore toning velvet headpieces and carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums and yellow Shasta daisies, respectively. Best man was Jack Car-

Spans Nine Countries Career Preview

Fellowship Hall of the First United Church became a miniature United Nations Assembly on Saturday when groups of the Woman's Association and Woman's Missionary Societies united in their third annual dessert party. Hundreds came to enjoy refreshments served from tables decorated in Canadian, Dutch, Japanese, Chinese, African, Mexican, Scottish, Irish and Hawaiian themes.

Mrs. F. G. Hitchens, Mrs. S. Peden, Mrs. W. Walker and Mrs. S. Scurrah made attractive Hawaiian "maidens" in their colorful muu maus and leis, serving from a table gay with masses of flowers and tropical fruit.

Japanese table was centred with five dolls dressed in authentic native costume with new generation being represented by one wearing a striking modern hair-do. Serviteurs were suitably attired.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to the Laurentians, the new Mrs. Shortt donned a Dior blue wool suit with mink trim, white velvet hat, black accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

Victoria Man Married In Duncan Ceremony

A wedding of interest in Victoria took place in St. Edward's Church, Duncan, recently when Leona Patricia Davis became the bride of Michael F. Paton. Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Davis of Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. James Paton of this city.

Dahlias and chrysanthemums decorated the church for the ceremony at which Rev. M. Gillis officiated. Heinz Kilian was organist and soloist was Sam Newbauer.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a waltz-length gown of nylon organza. Swiss lace medallions, inset with pearls, framed the portrait neckline. Full sweeping skirt had tiers of organza at back, topped with a bridal bow. Lace medallions trimmed the shoulder length veil of illusion net that misted from a coronet of pearls. Miniature pink roses, stephanotis and white-heather were in the bouquet. Only jewelry was a strand of pearls and matching drop earrings.

Mrs. Donald Davis was matron of honor for her sister-in-law. She chose a gold-toned brocade sheath with organza overskirt in same shade and carried a colonial bouquet of gold chrysanthemums and yellow rosebuds.

Miss Kathleen Paton, the groom's sister, was bridesmaid in pale blue nylon organza over taffeta gown. She carried a similar bouquet.

Miss Shirley Davis, the bride's niece, was junior bridesmaid. Roses in her colonial bouquet, toned with her pink nylon dress.

Larry Taylor, Crofton, was best man and ushers were Donald Davis, the bride's brother, and Rod McKay. Junior usher was Glen Davis.

Leo Barnette, Lake Cowichan, proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in Tzouhalem Hotel. Three-tier wedding cake, made by the bride's mother, centred the head table. Mrs. Rod McKay and Miss Joan Woods acted as servers.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip on the Island, the new Mrs. Paton donned a three-piece Italian ensemble of a scarfed coat over Chanel suit of white wool and French beret en tone. Accessories were in raspberry shade and corsage was a bronze orchid.

Following the reception the out-of-town guests were entertained at the Centennial Heights home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Davis.

Newlyweds are now making their home in Duncan.

Nature Grim But No Indian Headhunters

FORT NELSON, B.C. (CP) — The Indian decapitators of Headless Valley are entirely fictional. But the hazards of nature in this wilderness area are grimly real, say two prospectors who spent three months in the valley.

Bill Lietz, 31, and Erhard Fisher, 32, of Prince George, B.C., went into the area, 1,000 miles north of Vancouver, looking for gold like most men who have taken the same route.

They came out with no gold and no money but 2,000 feet of color film which they hope to show to sportsmen's clubs.

The pair went in at spring breakup with $2,500 worth of gear and grubstake. They were flown into the upper valley of the Spring River, where they built themselves a 13-foot canoe of willow and canvas.

For the next 12 weeks they paddled, portaged and slogged their way through 400 miles of picturesque but dangerous wilderness.

BAGGED BEAR

The only man they saw was an airborne game warden who swooped in to make sure they were not eating fresh meat. Even in one of B.C.'s most remote areas, deer and moose are protected. Their bag consisted of one black bear that raided their stores.

In the deep, twisting canyon valley, with its roaring river and towering peaks, they found a couple of rotting cabins and a few long-dead campfire remains.

They found no signs of two prospectors who disappeared in the valley last year and no evidence to support the stories that a lost band of Indians lives in the valley. This tribe was reputed to be responsible for the Headless Valley's name.

Lietz and Fisher said the tales that white visitors had their heads cut off by the Indians and their bodies pitched into the river belong only to adventure fiction.

There are many other good reasons for the disappearance of gold-seekers who have braved the country, the pair say. It would be easy to fall on the precipitous cliffs, drown in the treacherous rapids or starve among the barren rocks.

Motives of Desert Raider Remain Mystery

By DOUG MARSHALL
LONDON (CP)—What was Lawrence of Arabia—the apotheosis of public school valor or a rabid masochist pushed by shame to feats of almost superhuman endurance?

A film now being shot in Jordan, a forthcoming book and a play, all dealing with the legendary career of T. E. Lawrence, have revived interest in one of the most enigmatic personalities of 20th century history.

Lawrence was born in 1888 as the illegitimate son of an Irish baronet living in Wales with the family's former governor.

Historians think knowledge of this background instilled in Lawrence an obsession to prove himself better than his fellows and a distaste for physical contact with other people.

Familiar with the Middle East because of travels during his university days, Lawrence served as a junior officer at Britain's military headquarters in Cairo during the First World War.

Late in 1916 Arab elements revolted against Turkish forces controlling Arabia. Turkey was then allied to Germany. Britain hoped the rebellion would seriously weaken the enemy's Near Eastern flank and sent Lawrence to the Arab camp as a liaison officer.

PASSED AS ARAB

Romantically rigged out in flowing Arab robes, headdress and a sheik's dagger, Lawrence "out-Araved" the Arabs and quickly won their leader's confidence.

In the next two years he master-minded a series of brilliant guerrilla raids which choked communications, contained the Turkish forces and were largely responsible for Gen. Allenby's triumphant entry into Jerusalem in 1918.

Later, obviously suffering from some spiritual conflict, he assumed the name of Ross.

and sought anonymity in the RAF as a non-commissioned officer. He was killed in a motorcycle crash in 1935.

No one has seriously questioned Lawrence's military exploits although his achievements were certainly exaggerated at the time.

What is controversial are Lawrence's motives. Trenchard Rattigan's Ross, a hit play in London's West End, poses the problem.

At the end of the play's first half, Lawrence, flushed with desert victories, looks across time to his own future and asks: "Ross, Ross, how did I become you?"

The key to the transformation from popular hero to spiritual recluse seems to lie in the Arab town of Deraa where Lawrence was captured by the Turks one fateful day in November, 1917.

T. E. LAWRENCE
... guerilla leader

By his own account Lawrence, passing himself off as a fair-skinned Circassian, was dragged to the garrison commandant's bedroom and sadistically beaten when he refused to undergo obscene indignities.

Many people are content to take this version of the incident at its face-value and enshrine Lawrence as a superb example of youthful heroism in the best "boy-stood-on-the-burning-deck" tradition.

However, most of Lawrence's biographers have found inconsistencies in his account of the Deraa incident and have come up with less pleasant explanations.

Some, including Rattigan, suggest Lawrence either accepted or was forced into accepting the Turkish com-

Canadian Company Opens With 'Carmen'

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Opera Company opened its 13th season Saturday night with a performance of George Bizet's "Carmen" before a near-capacity audience at O'Keefe Centre.

Jean Saunders, as Carmen, and Richard Cassilly, as Don Jose, sang the leading roles in the first performance by a Canadian opera group at the centre.

Color slides exhibited at the Victoria International Salon of Photography will be shown to the public at Victoria University in the auditorium on Friday at 8 p.m.

The exhibit, which is free, is part of an eight-week course in "The Art of Photography" which is sponsored by the college evening division and the Victoria Camera Club.

Druggists no longer have to report details of each sale of liquor to the public to the Liquor Control Board.

The liquor board has dropped the requirement from its regulations, a spokesman said Friday.

Previously all liquor sales in drug stores were reported to the government agency.

The board spokesman said it is still necessary, however, to obtain a doctor's prescription in order to buy liquor for medicinal purposes.

The change in regulations was made "to remove paper work."

A general meeting of the Sangster PTA will be held in the school on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The budget will be presented and the new report cards explained.

FIVE-MONTH SILENCE TOO LONG Big Audience Rediscovered Symphony Concert Delight

By AUDREY JOHNSON
There is a special kind of pleasure about the first symphony concert of the season, especially such a "first" as Sunday's.

A summer with no symphony performance outdoors has meant a five-month-long silence on the part of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra.

It is like settling down for a harmonious tete-a-tete with someone long absent and rediscovering all the delights of a particular friendship.

21st Season

Sunday's concert was played to a large audience at the Royal Theatre and it was a substantial and comfortably classical introduction to the 21st season.

The orchestra, under Hans Gruber's firm, well-proportioned baton, performed impressively in the heroic Beethoven Overture "Egmont."

There was breadth, nobility and a fine development of climax all through this work, dedicated by the orchestra to memory of the late Dag Hammarskjöld.

Fine Debut

This occasion was also important for its introduction of the new concert master, Arthur Polson, who will preside at first desk for six of the 10 concert pairs.

Mr. Polson made his debut with the orchestra in Bruch's melodiously brilliant Concert No. 1 in G minor.

In his performance of this work he was revealed as a violinist of great style and authority, having a powerful but sensitive command of the bow and a highly dextrous left hand.

He appears thoroughly con-

BIG BOSS IN GOTHAM New York Mayor Smashes Tammany

NEW YORK (AP)—A handful of furniture movers has dismantled and carted away the remnants of a 150-year-old political institution—Tammany Hall.

Mayor Robert Wagner—principal architect of a primary election onslaught which smashed Tammany leadership—ordered the club out of existence.

From now on, Wagner said, the organization shall be known by its official title—The New York County Democratic Committee.

Absent from the scene as the desks, filing cabinets, an movement native in character and democratic in principle and action.

For more than three decades Tammany represented middle class opposition to the power of the aristocratic party. It lost its national character and became intimately identified with New York politics.

Mallek Dedicates Villa Expansion

The $800,000 Kiwanis Village project moved into its second stage Saturday with the dedication of more units for senior citizens by Edward Mallek, governor of the Kiwanis Club in the Pacific Northwest.

The three-stage project now consists of 50 individual cottages and a villa housing 50 senior citizens. When it is completed there will be accommodation for 74 elderly persons, bed-sitting rooms, sun lounges, a dining room and a chapel-auditorium to accommodate 200.

So far the Kiwanis have spent $300,000 on the villa. Funds have been raised by citizen donations, provincial government grants and personal member donations from Victoria Kiwanis Club.

Attending ceremonies marking completion of the second stage were Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Jack Lee, president of Victoria Kiwanis Club; Ald. J. L. W. McLean, Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson, and R. N. E. Harris, president, Victoria Kiwanis Village Society.

FIRE TOPPLES WALL

Three hundred persons were routed from their South Philadelphia homes Sunday when a seven-alarm fire in a warehouse demolished three adjacent houses and two garages. The houses were crushed when wall fell.

Nasser Admits Syria Setback

CAIRO (AP) — President Nasser said today the Syrian revolt "is a setback which must be the starting point for destroying reaction and treason throughout the Arab nations."

UN SEAT SOUGHT

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The new Syrian government took today what United Nations officials regarded as a first step toward application for membership in the UN. A UN spokesman said Premier Mamoun Kuzbari, head of the new Syrian regime, addressed a communication to Mongi Sifm of Tunisia, president of the UN Assembly, saying his government intends to adhere to the principles of the UN charter.

Speaking to a student rally at Cairo University, Nasser said, "we are facing the most serious position which ever faced our nation."

"It might turn into a catastrophe, into despair," Nasser admitted.

"But we might be able to turn it into a driving force forward to destroy reaction in all the Arab nations."

"I must tell you that Arab nationalism suffered a setback, a stab, a shock and treason," Nasser assailed "the five-man company" ruling Syria. He said King Hussein of Jordan "also supports treason as he always did." Jordan has recognized the new Syrian regime.

Nasser was given a foot-stamping, cheering welcome by several thousand students when he made an unscheduled appearance at the university.

Meanwhile, broadcasts from Cairo claimed that fierce battles were raging between troops and civilians in Aleppo, a key military base in northern Syria and a focal point of the revolt five days ago.

REFUGEES RESIST

Resistance to the new regime also appeared to be coming from the country's 120,000 Palestinian refugees, who overwhelmingly support Nasser.

Other moves by the new regime indicated growing tension. Syrian Premier Mamoun Kuzbari banned all demonstrations, forbade possession of arms by Syrian civilians, closed all schools and universities, extended the curfew, and outlawed the Syrian branch of Nasser's National Union party.

BREAKS FAST

Tara Singh, 74-year-old Sikh leader Sunday took small quantities of food to break his avowed "fast unto death," when Indian leaders agreed to appoint a commission to inquire into discrimination against the Sikh community.

DEAN CHANT

"don't blame us"

Inequality Of Children 'Raw Fact'

VANCOUVER (CP) — All children are not created equal and children must be made aware of "this raw fact of life," Dean S. N. F. Chant told delegates to the 37th annual convention of the B.C. School Trustees' Association here.

"Sentimentality tends to becloud issues and to blind one to the facts of life. One misconception that has stemmed from it is the belief that all children are equal."

"In fact it seems at times that educationists would even deceive the children into believing that they are equal."

"BLAME GOD" — This, he said, only confuses the question of equality of opportunity with having all children put through the same school program.

"In order to exact the best achievement from all pupils, difference of ability must be recognized and the school program adjusted to take these into account."

"The royal commission did not create these differences. They have always existed. Blame nature, blame God if you will, but not the royal commission."

"We cannot afford to let those of lesser ability be a constant drag upon those of greater ability."

U.S. Rejects Red Plan For Interim UN Chief

'DEAD MAN' REVIVES BUT GRAVE NOT WASTED

CARACAS (Reuters) — When grave-diggers shovelled the first spadefuls of earth into a grave in the village cemetery at Pecaya, the "dead" man, Roberto Rodriguez, victim of a heart attack, burst open the lid of the coffin, scrambled out of the grave and ran home shouting and swearing. His mother-in-law, who was standing at the graveside, dropped dead from shock. She will be buried in the grave prepared for her son-in-law.

De Gaulle Plans Special Police

PARIS (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle announced tonight plans to organize immediately a police force for Algeria to supervise an eventual self-determination referendum.

DIVORCE LAWS WON'T CHANGE SAYS FULTON

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Justice Minister Fulton said today that Quebec and Newfoundland do not want divorce courts and the people of Canada do not seem to want broader grounds for divorce.

"Public opinion is so divided on what should be done that until there is some crystallization of opinion, it would be unwise for the government to tamper with the existing situation."

Mr. Fulton said: "There seems to be no compelling reason to enlarge the grounds for divorce at present."

HARVISON:

Laws Turned To Good Use By Criminals

MONTREAL (CP) — Legal safeguards designed to protect the individual's civil rights are being used by criminal organizations to escape prosecution, Commissioner C. W. Harvison of the RCMP, said today.

He told the International Association of Chief of Police that these "good and necessary" safeguards "open wide gaps in the law for criminals who are part of powerful, well-financed organizations that have at their beck and call legal advisers, fixers and corrupt officials."

There were constant inconsistencies in interpretations of civil rights rules and "disagreement among members of some of the highest courts in England, the United States and Canada has not been uncommon."

The courts could assist police immeasurably by drawing up clearer guidelines in this field than now existed.

The commissioner said crime is increasing all over the world. "The patterns of crime are becoming more involved and complicated, the criminals are becoming more organized and therefore more powerful."

He said the responsibility for this increase must be shared by legislators, judges, lawyers, the press and the public, as well as the police.

Own Bullet Hits Bandit

OTTAWA (CP) — Three masked gunmen — one of them wounded by his own gun — escaped today after robbing a downtown branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Police later picked up their trail and exchanged gunfire during a chase through Ottawa streets but lost the trio after they abandoned their second stolen car and made off with a third.

"Y' kin figger on four years fer a centennial project. Two years I decide on it an' two years I ask why didn't we git somethin' else."

With weather like this, why not carry th' tourist season into October?

Nobody wants t' be UN secretary-general, an' nobody wants anybody else t' be it.

SUICIDES

Body of David Beresford Pratt, above, wealthy English-born farmer who attempted to assassinate South African Premier Hendrik Verwoerd last year, was found hanging by a bedsheet in his cell in a mental clinic at Bloemfontein Sunday night.

Soviet Foregoes Demand for Veto

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States today rejected a Soviet proposal to name a stop-gap United Nations secretary-general.

It declared the plan would "seriously undermine the integrity of the UN secretariat." The Soviet Union disclosed Sunday night a proposal calling for a temporary head of the secretariat to act in close consultation with three deputies.

The Russians explained it would not be bound by a veto.

STEVENSON SPEAKS

But U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, in a statement today, declared the Soviet proposal "is not a real compromise."

"It does not give the interim secretary-general a mandate to carry out the full functions of the office. This is imperative for the effective operation of the United Nations," said Stevenson.

"The UN should promptly designate an outstanding figure to carry on the functions of the

JUST ANOTHER TROIKA

In Washington, the U.S. state department said the plan was just another version of the troika, or three-man secretariat representing the Western, Communist and neutral blocs.

The proposal, previously reported by informed diplomats, was spelled out in this way Sunday night in a statement from the Soviet delegation:

The General Assembly would choose a man to head the UN secretariat until April, 1963, but he would have to work in co-operation with three deputies. None would have a veto. The assembly would make its selection on the recommendation of the Security Council.

The Russians have a veto in the Security Council and could reject any candidate they disliked.

The Russian statement said U.S. press reports had distorted the Soviet position by saying that it aimed "at using the veto in the everyday work of the guiding body of the secretariat."

The Russians charged that the object was to mislead public opinion and whitewash the position of those seeking to subordinate the UN staff to one country or group of countries and to "destroy its truly international nature."

SOUGHT TROIKA

April, 1963, would have marked the end of the second five-year term of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, who died in a plane crash Sept. 18 in Northern Rhodesia. For the last year the Soviet Union had sought to replace Hammarskjold with a troika—three men, Communist, Western and neutral, each holding a veto. His permanent replacement was not decided.

UN May Meet League's Fate Boland Fears

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frederick B. Boland, former UN General Assembly president, warned Sunday the United Nations may be in for the same fate as the League of Nations.

Boland blamed both big and small powers for the deadlock at the United Nations. The Irish UN delegate, who also served with the League of Nations, appeared on a television interview.

"I think," Boland said, "there is the same tendency nowadays as there was then on the part of the major powers to take the view that the world organization should be subservient to their respective national interest. I think there may be also a tendency, which I hope will not materialize, on the part of the smaller members of the organization, to say rather than have serious power differences: let us compromise."

RECORD HIT, LUCKY CATCH

Roger Maris and 19-year-old Sal Durante hold ball the New York Yankee slugger hit Sunday into the right-field stand at Yankee Stadium. It made Maris the first man to hit 61 home runs in a season. Durante, a prospective bridegroom, gets $5,000 for returning the ball, an all-expense paid trip for two to the West Coast and two season tickets to Yankee Stadium for 1962. See story Page 10. ## Saanich Boy Admits Attempted Murder

Peter Tschirsch, a 15-year-old Saanich boy, pleaded guilty in B.C. Assize Court today to a charge of attempted non-capital murder and was remanded for sentence until Tuesday, Oct. 10 at 10 a.m. He pleaded guilty after the court decided he was fit to stand trial following a psychiatric report from Essondale.

The boy was committed to Essondale by order of the attorney-general when he appeared in a juvenile court last April.

Earlier, he was charged in Saanich police court with attempted murder in the stabbing of a 15-year-old girl on Jan. 12.

The girl, Carolyn Yates, 15, of 5913 Old West Road, was taken to hospital with an abdominal stab wound and head injuries, from which she recovered.

RED CHINA PLEADS PEACE BUT CLAIMS U.S. HOSTILE

PEKING (Reuters) — Communist China celebrated its 12th anniversary with a gigantic parade Sunday and a declaration by Premier Chou En-lai that it wants to live in peace with all nations, including the United States.

But, Chou, speaking at a separate banquet Saturday night, added:

"The U.S. government, however, has up to now refused to give up its policy of hostility to China."

Chou told the 3,000 guests that the U.S. is "again engineering plots to keep Communist China out of the United Nations."

"The legitimate rights of the people's republic of China must be restored to it," Chou said, and the Nationalist Chinese "must be driven out of the United Nations."

Chou backed Cuba's "just struggle against U.S. imperialism."

ism" and said Communist China would stand "unshakably" by Asian and Latin American countries in their fight against "old and new" colonialism.

In Sunday's climax of the celebrations, some 500,000 people paraded through the vast Tien An Men (heavenly peace) Square here.

United States "imperialism" was again denounced in a keynote speech by Peking Mayor Peng Chen.

Communist party chairman Mao Tse-tung, head of state Liu Shao Chi and Chou re- with leading state guests including Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos, King Mahendra of Nepal and Queen Elisabeth of the Belgians.

There was no official Soviet government or Communist party delegation present but several technical and friendship groups were on hand.

$22 or $23 For BCE Shareholders

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Power Corporation has decided to distribute among its 22,000 shareholders the bulk of the $110,985,045 received from the provincial government in the expropriation of the B.C. Electric Company on Aug. 1.

A letter signed by Corporation President A. Bruce Robertson to shareholders, and released Friday estimated the amount to be distributed would amount to between $22 and $23 per share. Mr. Robertson said he hoped the distribution could be made before the end of the year.

BCE held all the common stock of BCE before the takeover.

SKIP DIVIDEND

The letter told shareholders the BCE would not be paying any dividend in mid-October as usual because the present earnings of the corporation would not be enough to make the quarterly payment.

The letter also noted that BCE has applied to the provincial government for the right to take the matter of compensation to the courts. BCE is asking $225,000,000 instead of the $110,985,045 paid by the government.

Attorney-General Bonner, who must give consent in the form of a "fiat," has not yet made a decision.

Building Permits Still Lag

Issue of building permits, which reached a five-year low in August, showed no improvement in September, city planners said Friday.

Last month 562 permits valued at $421,788 were taken out, contributing to an annual total at present running 30 per cent below 1960 figures.

Only major permit in September was for a $90,000 dental building at 1121 Yates. Nine single-family dwellings with a value of $118,080 were started during the month.

Decline in construction within the business district continues, planners said, while even the usual healthy alteration and repairs total was down by $55,000 for the month.

January-September totals for the past five years indicate 1961 has lagged considerably with a total of $5,271,917. Last year's comparable figure was $7,407,604.

World's Largest Office Complex Set for Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Promoters representing financial interests in Canada and several European countries have announced plans to build the world's "largest office complex" in Montreal.

When fully completed, the "office complex" will be three buildings in one. Its design consists of three identical 51-story towers resting on the same three-storey base and joined at the top.

Work on the first tower of the $90,000,000 project is scheduled to begin Nov. 15, it was announced.

The promoters, the Place Victoria-St. Jacques Company, said the two financial groups backing the project are headed by the Societa Generale Immobiliare di Roma and the Mercantile Bank of Canada.

Other major investors include two Dutch banks, the Rotterdamse and the Nationale Handelsbank, and an Italian bank, the Banca Nazionale del Lavoro.

The first tower is scheduled to be completed in May, 1964. Dates for the other two are still tentative.

Huge Holding Corp. Organized by Banks

NEW YORK (AP) — State banking authorities gave the green light Friday for formation of a new bank holding company with $6,200,000,000 in assets.

Approved by the New York State Banking Board was a plan by the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York City and six other state banks to organize as Morgan New York State Corp.

Still required were approvals from the federal reserve board and stockholders of participating banks.

MERGER PLANS DELAYED

TORONTO (CP) — Ventures has announced that the proposed merger of Ventures and Falconbridge Nickel Mines Ltd. may not become effective until early 1962.

In a letter to shareholders, the company said the time required for the settlement of details and the preparation of

WEEK ON MARKETS

Speculative Fever Hits Three-Year Record Level

By GREG MACDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In brokerage houses, the board rooms were jammed with buyers; at the Toronto stock exchange, spectators crowded into the galleries overlooking the trading floor; in financial circles rumors were flying.

Mixed well, these ingredients added up to one thing—a high-pitched speculative market, the like of which hasn't been seen in three years.

Started two weeks ago by Lake Dufault mines, a Quebec mining company which began to move wildly ahead on rumors of a rich copper strike, the speculative fever reached out until it touched nearly every junior base metal on the Toronto board.

Some of the gains were speculative, others were small, but volume was the highest since March, 1959.

Lake Dufault, which moved from 48 cents a share to $2.08 two weeks ago moved ahead $2.92 last week to $5 on a total volume of 2,336,616 shares. The stock went as high as $5.90 but was hit by profit takers on Thursday and dropped to $4 before coming back.

The run on Lake Dufault really began Tuesday following the company's announcement the night before of a copper find on its property on the Robit field in Quebec's Rouyn-Noranda area.

Western Lumber Groups Urged To Probe Markets

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trade and Industry Minister Bonner Friday urged the Western Lumber Marketing Association to undertake intensive market research programs to help increase sales.

"It is evident that we in Canada are missing many lumber marketing opportunities available to us," he said in an address.

Mr. Bonner suggested the industry should pay particular attention to prefabricated timber components.

He said up to 35 per cent of homes being built in the United States include some prefabricated parts and their use is increasing rapidly.

Mr. Bonner predicted B.C.'s lumber output would increase by 36 per cent by 1975 and said most lumber would be produced at interior mills.

Alcoa Reduces Aluminum Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Aluminum Co. of America reduced prices last week on its finished mill products, the third price cut in three days. It said the action was to meet Canadian and European competition.

Prices of many common grades of aluminum sheet and plate were reduced one cent a pound. Prices of a few product categories were reduced two cents.

Trading Heavy In Mine Issues

The stock market remained ahead after heavy trading today with speculative mining issues in the forefront.

Lake Dufault, the small Quebec mine which had seen a great deal of action in the last two weeks, lost 50c on a volume of 116,000 shares.

The industrial market continued to move ahead with foods, papers, steels and refining oils accounting for much of the upward swing.

AT TORONTO M. Loeb a new high of 22 with a rise of 1/2 in light trading, while Steel Company of Canada and Investors Syndicate A also gained smartly.

Laziness Retarding Economy

TORONTO (CP) — N. J. McKinnon, president of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, today blamed "a tendency to national laziness" for Canada's "slow and frustrating process of growth."

Other causes for the "lack of an invigorating climate for business success" in Canada, Mr. McKinnon said in an address to the Canadian Club of Toronto, are the downgrading of business achievement compared with cultural success and the unavailability of "risk capital" due to high taxation.

Unemployment and the decline in gross national production are symptoms of these more basic problems, he said.

As evidence of national laziness Mr. McKinnon cited a study that indicated "Canada has not only the largest number of holidays but also in many activities the shortest working week per year."

Other indications of laziness: Low productivity—"in a comparison of improvement in productivity among 11 nations during the years 1954-59 Canada stood second to the bottom of the list"—and the large number of young people going into the labor market inadequately educated when opportunities for education and the acquisition of trade skills are greater than ever before.

The senior base metals list was generally depressed with losses in the 15 to 75 cent range going to Geco, International Nickel, Rio Algom and Consolidated Mining and Smelting.

Gold trade was light with Hollinger down 1/2.

AT NEW YORK Ford was off about a point as labor negotiators neared Tuesday strike deadline. Boeing was off about 2 and United Aircraft lost more than a point.

Korvette was ahead more than 4 on news of a stock split proposal and record earnings. Revlon and Lehn & Pink rose about 2 each. Consolidated Electronics also tacked on a couple of points.

Losses of around a point were taken by Woolworth, Kennerly, Air Reduction, United Air Lines and Merck.

AT MONTREAL International rose 1/2 at 36, Abitibi added 1/2 at 39, Consolidated Paper gained 1/2 at 45 and Price at 49 and Bowater at 6 1/2 both fell 1/2.

Among the utilities, Calgary Power dipped 1/2 at 24. Up 1/2 were Quebec Natural Gas at 5 1/2, Bell Telephone at 55 1/2 and Shawinigan at 21 1/2.

In banks, Nova Scotia added 1/2 at 76 1/2 and Imperial Bank of Commerce improved 1/2 at 68 1/2.

AT LONDON unsettled conditions continued to prevail on the stock market today with business small and losses predominating. Industrials, after losing ground early in the session, appeared steadier.

Leading issues were mainly lower, but Unilever was a firm exception, moving ahead on a stock split proposal.

In the gilt-edged market the short and medium dated stocks responded to some investment buying. Dollar stocks were irregular.

AT VANCOUVER trading was moderate with prices varied during the morning. Mill City went at 16 1/2. Bralorne traded at $6.15. Cowichan Copper was at .39. Friday Mines went to .44. Granduc was at $3.75, and Silbak between 54 and 57. Growers Wine "A" sold at $9 1/2, and Woodward Stores "A" at $17.75.

TODAY'S GRAIN

RAF Bombing of Berlin 'Costly Failure'

LONDON (CP) — Britons were reflecting today on official judgments that while the RAF won the Battle of Britain in the Second World War, it lost the Battle of Berlin.

Publication of the official history of 'Bomber Command's' night attacks on Germany during 1943-44 implies that never before did so many do so much to achieve so little.

The historians, Sir Charles Webster and Noble Frankland, conclude that the indiscriminate area bombing of German cities, costing more than 55,000 lives in aircrew, was a costly failure.

They said the attacks failed in their two main objectives: They failed to break the will of the German people and the effect on the enemy's war production was remarkably small.

In part the history is an indictment of Bomber Command's chief, Sir Arthur Harris, who despite strong advice that the bombers could be used more effectively against strategic targets such as oil, held firm to his conviction that mass bombing would destroy Germany's home front.

The picture the historians paint of Harris is of a man who commanded the awe, affection and absolute loyalty of his men but who, like Field Marshal Earl Haig in the First World War, was always wrong strategically and 'always' prevailed.

The history brings out the astonishing fact that three of the war's leading powers, Britain, Germany and Japan, were virtually without oil.

From the earliest days of the war, Britain's economic advisers insisted that bombing power should be used with absolute priority against German oil refineries and stock piles. German wartime leaders later confirmed that a sustained attack on oil installations was what they most feared.

Daylight precision bombing by the United States Air Force seriously crippled Nazi war production. But Harris, say the historians, remained convinced that his 1,000-strong force of four-engined Lancasters was an imprecise instrument that could be used only at night against large targets.

SOME BIG SUCCESSES

Spectacular results were sometimes achieved. A week-long incendiary attack on Hamburg resulted in a fire storm that killed 50,000 civilians. A similar attack on Dresden a year later produced moral qualms among Britain's leaders, including Prime Minister Churchill.

The book makes clear that Britain was not following a policy of destruction for its own sake. Harris and his top men genuinely believed that the best way to destroy the German war machine was to drive the workers from their homes.

The historians in no way deny the over-all achievements of the RAF during the war. They restrict themselves to the air offensive against Germany.

A particular success achieved was the development of the Pathfinder force which proved that Bomber Command could be used effectively and accurately against small targets such as the Moehm and Eder dams.

The book concludes that these tactics employed earlier could have done much more to destroy Germany's ability to fight.

HARRIS DEFENDED

Many quarters are sure to disagree with the official judgment and one criticism of the history has already appeared in print.

Air Vice-Marshal Donald Bennett, former commander of the Pathfinder force, defends Harris as the most successful British commander-in-chief of the war.

"This cold, critical and inaccurate history is, to say the least, an astonishing act of ingratitude," Bennett says.

De Gaulle Plans Special Police

PARIS (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle announced tonight plans to organize immediately a police force for Algeria to supervise an eventual self-determination referendum in the North-African territory.

De Gaulle, speaking in a radio and television broadcast to France and Algeria, offered to resume peace talks with the Muslim insurgents and called for preparation of a referendum by "representative elements" in Algeria.

De Gaulle said it is "clearly understood" that whatever happens the protection of the French in Algeria would be assured, "either by regrouping them in security zones or by giving them the means of taking part in France in the national activity."

De Gaulle said that as soon as threats cease and relations between East and West become normal, France would be ready to enter into constructive negotiations between the big powers on world problems such as Germany, disarmament, aid to underdeveloped countries and co-operation for human progress.

He said 60 per cent of the French people have approved his Algerian policies and "the results which these have allowed the nation to achieve are self-evident."

Inequality Of Children 'Raw Fact'

VANCOUVER (CP) — All children are not created equal and children must be made aware of "this raw fact of life," Dean S. N. F. Chant today told delegates to the 57th annual convention of the B.C. School Trustees' Association here.

"Sentimentality tends to becloud issues and to blind one to the facts of life. One misconception that has stemmed from it is the belief that all children are equal."

"In fact it seems at times that educationists would even deceive the children into believing that they are equal."

"BLAME GOD"

This, he said, only confuses the question of equality of opportunity with having all children put through the same school program.

"In order to exact the best achievement from all pupils, difference of ability must be recognized and the school program adjusted to take these into account."

"The royal commission did not create these differences. They have always existed. Blame nature, blame God, if you will, but not the royal commission."

"We cannot afford to let those of lesser ability be a constant drag upon those of greater ability."

Own Bullet Hits Bandit

OTTAWA (CP) — Three masked gunmen—one of them wounded by his own gun—escaped today after robbing a midtown branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Police later picked up their trail and exchanged gunfire during a chase through Ottawa streets but lost the trio after they abandoned their second stolen car and made off with a third.

Unemployment Here 'As Usual' — Dief

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today that while Canada, as usual, will face another unemployment problem this winter, the country's employment record is encouraging and significant in comparison with that of the United States.

He said that while U.S. unemployment figures have been going up, Canada's have been going down. In August this year, the unemployed in Canada represented 4.8 per cent of the labor force and in the U.S. it was 6.2 per cent.

"Of course, we will have a winter unemployment problem, as we always have," he told reporters after a cabinet meeting. "But certainly our figures are very encouraging and I think significant in comparison with U.S. figures."

INTERIM UN CHIEF

For the last year the Soviet Union had sought to replace Hammarskjöld with a troika—three men, Communist, Western and neutral, each holding a veto. His permanent replacement under the UN charter would require action first by the council and then by the assembly.

To avoid an immediate showdown over the troika, Ireland, Norway and others have been promoting a plan to have the assembly alone name one man on a temporary basis.

The Soviet delegation said it would reject "any attempts to impose upon the General Assembly a one-sided solution in circumvention of the Security Council."

But it said that in the last few days it had given U.S. and other delegates "a conciliatory proposal on the temporary administration of the secretariat."

This, it said, is that the assembly of recommendation of the Security Council "will invite a man who is well known in United Nations circles to serve as chief of the secretariat until April, 1963."

That description would apply to any of the three men most often mentioned for the top spot in connection with the Irish-Norwegian plan.

They are the assembly president, Mongi Sili of Tunisia; his predecessor, Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, and Burma's chief delegate, U. Thant.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Arson Suspected In School Blaze

(Compiled from CP)

PRINCE GEORGE — An official of the British Columbia fire marshal's department today began investigating a blaze which destroyed Connaught Junior High School.

The official flew to Prince George Sunday after request from the RCMP, who said they suspect arson.

The building four years ago cost over $600,000.

Remains of the 26-room wood-frame building were still smoldering Sunday night. The fire started shortly after 2 a.m. Sunday. The building was destroyed less than an hour and a half later.

Police said they discovered a door had been smashed open and a ladder placed inside the doorway.

700-FOOT PLUNGE

BRALORNE — A man was killed in a 700-foot plunge down a cliff after his car shot off the Bridge River Highway three miles east of here.

The body of Harold Bjarnson, 27, an employee at B.C. Electric's Gold Bridge power station, was found by RCMP about 350 feet from the twisted wreckage of his car.

MONTY VISITS

VANCOUVER — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery said Sunday he feels there is every chance for continued peace in the world if world leaders will show sense and move carefully.

The field marshal arrived aboard a CPA airliner from Hong Kong en route home from a private fact-finding mission in Red China. He will rest here for four days.

He said, in an airport interview, that the energy of the people was the most striking fact he had encountered. The nations of the West "would do well to make friends with China."

ARMS PROTEST

VANCOUVER — An orderly group of about 200 persons, protesting what it termed militaristic thinking and calling for an end to nuclear arms, arrived here Sunday after an overnight, 25-mile hike from White Rock, south of here.

The group, claiming no political affiliation, carried placards, two of which read "Peace, the only shelter," and "Let's live a little."

Starting Saturday as a band of about 30, the marchers picked up in number as they approached the city.

ENGINE ROOM BLAST SINKS U.S. TANKER

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—An oil tanker with its hull ripped by an explosion sank today 100 miles off Jacksonville. The Hess Mariner's crew of 37 had abandoned the $1,000,000 craft Sunday night.

Last crew members to leave were four men who stayed on the wreck six hours in an effort to halt the rush of water through a hole punched in the vessel's bottom by an engine-room explosion.
